Boat Seized By Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Ship radio reports today indicated a Cuban patrol boat had escorted into Cuban waters an American treasure-hunting craft it had boarded on the high seas.

A spokesman in Washington for the firm that chartered the Jocelyn-C for treasure-hunting tests said at least five persons were aboard.

The U.S. Coast Guard in Miami refused to comment.

Marine broadcasts monitored in Miami said Cuban seamen boarded the 65-foot red, white and blue Jocelyn-C Sunday and removed two Cuban crewmen before beginning escort of the American boat into Cuban territorial waters just off La Isabela on the island's northern coast.

As the Jocelyn-C and the patrol boat traveled the 140 miles from the point of the reported boarding to La Isabela, the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Steadfast watched off shore. The cutter remained outside Cuba's threemile limit.

Only fcur of the persons reportedly aboard the Jocelyn-C were identified immediately.

Early morning Havana radio broadcasts monitored in Miami made no mention of the incident.

The Steadfast was dispatched to the Atlantic between Cuba and the Bahamas early Sunday afternoon when the Jocelyn-C, commanded by Capt. Sten Carlson of East Orleans, Mass., reported by radio that the Cuban craft was approaching it. The vessel was 15 miles offshore, the radio report said.

Moments before the Jocelyn-C's transmitter went silent, the captain reported: "They're lowering their guns on us."

The Steadfast, a 210-foot heavy-duty cutter armed with a three-inch cannon and several machine guns, reportedly was operating under instructions not to attempt an interception of the two vessels.

The Jocelyn-C, under charter to a Washington firm known as Sub Mar, sailed from Fort Lauderdale Friday after having repairs made to its electronic treasure-hunting equipment. The equipment was to be tested during the cruise.

The Cubans reportedly boarded it near Cay Lobos, an island in the old Bahama channel north of Cuba.

Carlson's wife, Jocelyn, for whom the boat was named, said she spoke to her husband Thursday. She reported he told her a shakedown cruise had been completed and that he would call her again in about 10 days.

Mrs. Carlson lives with the couple's two children in East Orleans, Mass.

The Jocelyn-C left Cape Cod harbor Jan. 1. Carlson, 37, said at the time he was starting a three-month search for sunken Spanish gold in the Caribbean.

With Carlson when he sailed last January was William Crockett, 27, a photographer and fisherman. Crockett, a bachelor, is a native of Richmond, Va., and has living in Chatham, Mass.

Two other members of the crew were identified as Pat Fitzsimmons and Joe Campbell. Their hometowns were not known.

A British vessel identified as the Arethusa, described in Lloyd's Registry of Ships as a 318-foot, 3,152-ton training ship registered in London, was nearby when the Jocelyn-C was boarded.

Hearnes Says Table Lowers Rate for Most Taxpayers

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes released an accounting today showing the effects of the proposed income tax law to be voted on April 7 and asked all Missouri newspapers to print it.

He said the tax table prepared by Price Waterhouse and Co. is being sent to all newspapers in the state to be printed as a public service. He said the chart shows over half the voters in the state would get a tax reduction if the tax bill passed by the legislature last September is approved by the voters.

State income taxes will decrease, he noted, as federal deductions and exemptions go up during the next four years.

For example, the chart shows a man and wife with two dependents and an $8,000 a year salary would pay $61.50 this year both under the present and the proposed law.

In 1971 and 1972, the new law would cut the tax to $56.50 In 1973 the present rate would be $67.50 and the proposed tax would be $55.50.

"There has been a great deal of tax reform bill," with financially conservative groups such as the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce and the Missouri Public Expenditure survey verifying that additional money is needed to finance existing services in fields such as education and mental health.

"Now the effects of the bill have been documented. Over half the voters who read this chart will find that a 'yes' vote on April 7 would reduce their taxes by putting the proposed law into effect.

"While tax rates would go up, so will deductions and exemptions. The proposed law would raise our 5 per cent standard deduction immediately to 10 per cent, and then up to 15 per cent over a period of four years. Personal exemptions would be raised over the same period of time.

"The result is that additional money would come from individuals in higher income brackets and from corporations, while families with low and medium incomes would have their taxes reduced.

"I am not asking people to take my word on this issue. The Price Waterhouse and Co. chart tells the story. Just as Missouri newspapers have served the public so well in the past, I ask them now to inform their readers of the facts before the April 7 election."

A highway accident Saturday at 7:05 p.m. on highway 60, six miles east of Poplar Bluff, resulted in he deaths of three.

A fourth highway fatality occurred Sunday morning at 7:40 a.m. at the intersection of highways 60 and 61, at the south Sikeston city limits. A Sikeston woman died in the hospital in Memphis from injuries in he collision.

Fourteen were injured in six accidents over the weekend. Two are in critical condition.

A two- car accident Saturday night claimed the lives of Mrs. Carrie Elizabeth Chaffin, 45, her daughter- in-law, Mrs. Barbara June Chaffin, 19, and her one-month old daughter, Angela Dawn Chaffin, all of route six, Poplar Bluff.

Barbara June Chaffin, 16, another daughter of Mrs. Carrie Chaffin, is in critical condition in the Lucy Lee hospital, Poplar Bluff, suffering from internal injuries.

Mrs. Carrie Chaffin was driving a 1968 Volkswagen, when her car was struck by a 1958 Pontiac station wagon, driven by Marnie E. Binkley, 62, St. Louis, as the Binkley car crossed the center line and struck the Volkswagen headon, the state patrol reported.

The bodies of the Chaffin family as taken to White Funeral Home in Fisk.

Binkley was not injured, but a passenger in his car, Bob Morris, 47, St. Louis had cuts on his face and was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital.

An inquest was held today at 10:30 a.m. by the Butler county coroner.

The patrol said Binkley would be held on a manslaughter and drunken driving charge.

Eula Ray, 45, resident on Harris street in Sikeston died Sunday in the Baptist hospital, according to the state patrol, as the result of injuries in the crash Sunday at 7:40 a.m. at the intersection of highways 60 and 61.

She was a passenger in a 1959 Nash, driven by Wallace D. Lee, 65, Sikeston, whose car was struck in the right side by a 1969 Chevrolet, driven by Adgin G. Yutzy, 36, Elsinore. Lee is in critical condition in Missouri Delta Community hospital.

The patrol reported that Yutzy apparently failed to see the flashing red light when he accident occurred.

Yutzy, his wife, Fanny, 35 and son, John, 2, received minor injuries.

Helen Marie Myers, 18, Dexter, received a neck and back injury Sunday at 7 a.m. on highway 25, two and one-half miles south of Bloomfield.

Sunday at 1:30 a.m. on highway 34, two miles east of Piedmont, four persons were injured.

A 1962 Falcon, driven by Arlinda Jean Wakefield, 17, Overland, ran on the shoulder, went out of control, and traveled almost 200 feet before it struck a concrete culvert on a private drive.

The driver received face cuts; and three passengers had cuts and possible internal injuries, Joyce Buck, 26, Arnold; James Huston, 23, DeSoto; and Loretta Brown, 27, Berkeley.

All were taken to Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

B52s Pound North Viet Supply Lines

SAIGON (AP) — About 40 U.S. B52 bombers pounded a North Vietnamese supply buildup extending from inside Laos to the northern entrance of the A Shau Valley in heavy raids Sunday and today.

The eight-jet Stratofortresses dropped more than 1,000 tons of bombs on base camps, bunkers and storage areas in the northwest sector of South Vietnam and in the adjacent area of eastern Laos.

Informed sources said in Saigon last week that Hanoi had launched the biggest supply operation of the war down the Ho Chi Minh Trail and was moving hundreds of tons of war materials through the 25-mile-long A Shau Valley for distribution to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Another 20 B52s dropped 600 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese troop concentrations and base camps in the western Mekong Delta eight miles from the Cambodian border. The strikes were concentrated in the Seven Mountains region, which is used as a staging and storage area by the enemy.

Two more American helicopters were reported lost. One was shot down in the Central Highlands a mile from the Cambodian border and 112 miles northeast of Saigon, but the crewmen escaped unhurt. A second helicopter carrying South Korean troops developed engine trouble and crashed 15 miles northwest of Cam Ranh Bay, killing the American pilot and injuring three Koreans.

The losses raised to 6,456 the number of American helicopters and fixed-wing planes reported lost in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Eight miles south of Da Nang, two explosive charges believed planted by Viet Cong saboteurs ripped through a 40-foot bridge across the Song Thanh River, temporarily closing National Highway One, military spokesmen said.

It was the second time in three months that the bridge had been blown up. A 30-man platoon of South Vietnamese militiamen assigned to defend the bridge was being held for investigation, presumably to determine if they were negligent in failing to spot the saboteurs, who were believed to be frogmen.

Officials disclosed Sunday that the vial, containing 2.3 grams of material from lunar rock No. 50 brought to earth by Apollo 11, disappeared the night before during a charity affair for scientific research that included a $100-a-plate dinner.

"I'm going to call it a theft," said Steven Lawrence, business manager of the institute of Geophysics at the University of California at Los Angeles, who arranged the display. "But I hope it was a joke and we'll get it back."

Pompidou to Meet Jewish Group Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou meets today with leaders of Jewish organizations to discuss the pro-Israel demonstrations that have marred his visit to the United States.

More mass protests were expected today but spokesmen for the Jewish groups said Sunday night they "deplore any use of disorder or physical force to express our anguish over French Middle Eastern policy."

Pompidou's schedule also calls for a visit to the United Nations, where he will confer with Secretary-General U Thant on the Middle East situation. His schedule winds up with a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, where a major protest is planned.

Pompidou decided Sunday to go ahead with his scheduled two-day visit to New York despite misgivings and displeasure over hostile demonstrations in Chicago.

The decision came after Mayor John V. Lindsay appealed to New Yorkers to "avoid any discourtesy or other behavior that would mar this city's devotion to the lawful, peaceful resolution of all difficulties."

No Ceiling Sighted in Soaring Coffee Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail coffee prices are expected to soar this year and may cut even deeper into American consumption of the country's favorite brew, government and industry experts say.

Average prices already have climbed to the highest levels in a dozen years and the ceiling is not in sight. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said retail coffee prices last month averaged 82.5 cents a pound, up more than two cents from December.

A year earlier the BLS average was 76.2 cents. And for all of 1969 the average price was 76.5 cents, only one-tenth of a cent more than in 1968.

But a killing frost last July in Brazil, the world's chief exporter, severely damaged trees which produce coffee beans.

The Agriculture Department says newly planted trees will not be ready for production until about 1975. Meantime, the experts say, world coffee supplies will be tight.

No one is predicting that prices will climb to the $1.23 per pound housewives paid in August 1954, but one official guessed the average could be near $1 per pound by next winter if current conditions persist.

An industry official, representing the Pan American Coffee Bureau, called the recent price increases a "psychological scare" resulting from the freeze last year in Brazil.

The coffee trade says retail prices generally have declined since the 1958 average of 84.6 cents a pound. The low mark was 67.4 cents in 1962, when the International Coffee Agreement was put forth to help with marketings and iron out price fluctuations.

Meantime, according to Pan American Coffee Bureau surveys, American per capita coffee drinking is shrinking.

In 1962, officials said Americans over 10 years of age drank an average of 3.12 cups a day. Last year Americans averaged only 2.68 cups of coffee per day, only one-third of a cup more than the all-time low of 2.38 cups in 1950—another period of high prices.

One reason, says a trade spokesman, is that Americans are using less coffee per cup. This began during the high price era of 20 years ago when housewives, hotels and restaurants perked less coffee longer to make more brew for more people.

"They got to liking it that way," the official said. "We recommend making 40 to 45 cups from a pound of coffee. Now they're making 70 to 75 cups—they're just drinking more water."

Also, he said, surveys indicate young people are not turning to coffee as rapidly as did their parents.

"They're on a soft drink kick right now," the spokesman said.

Gulf Oil Fire Still Unchecked After 3 Weeks

VENICE, La. (AP) — It sounds like a thousand jets thundering as the giant finger of flame rises from the big offshore oil platform, weaving a blanket of gray smoke over the Gulf of Mexico.

The platform houses a dozen oil wells, owned by Chevron Oil Co. It broke into flames three weeks ago and today the platform, 30 miles off the southeastern Louisiana marshlands, is a tangled web of steel.

Fire fighting specialist Red Adair's crew is working to try to snuff out the fire and cap the wells. Before flames engulfed it on Feb. 10, the 12-well cluster was producing 900 barrels of oil daily.

There will be another problem when the fire is extinguished— oil will spill into the Gulf and may contaminate rich oyster beds.

Company officials said there is no way to estimate how much oil will spew from the wells because they are not sure how many in the group surfacing at the platform are producing.

"We're not going to make mistakes made before, like the Torrey Canyon," said Tom Riggs, assistant general manager of Chevron, referring to the big tanker which hit a reef and blackened the Cornish coast of England with its oil cargo in March 1967.

New Trend in Japan To Aid U.S. Farmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Buying habits of Japanese housewives who patronize huge new supermarkets could revolutionize U. S. farm product sales to that country, says the Agriculture Department.

Japan has long been the best cash customer of the American farmer, buying around $900 million of farm products annually. But sales of U. S. processed food has amounted to only about $20 million a year.

Now, however, the Japanese food retail system is undergoing a revolution involving more and larger supermarkets catering to the nation's thriving economy.

Thus, the Foreign Agricultural Service said today, the changes could mean a change in the types of products offered the Japanese food market.

"The new boom in supermarkets, and especially the growing links between supermarket chains and major trading and importing companies, should give a definite boost to sales of imported processed food," the FAS said in a report.

Officials said an example of the new trend in Japanese retailing was the opening last November in a Tokyo suburb of the country's first modern shopping center, including all the refinements seen in many U. S. marketing centers.

"Shoppers could put their cars in a 1,000-car parking lot and, when tired of shopping, could relax at amusements as varied as a minizoo, a bowling alley and a go-go club," the FAS said.

The new center, officials said, typified the radical changes affecting Japan's traditional merchandising by smaller specialized food stores operated by single families.

As more food sales are conducted at department stores, supermarkets and shopping centers, the FAS noted, the old family-type stores fade. In 1963 they accounted for 86 per cent of the country's food sales. Now they sell about 75 per cent, and by 1975 are expected to slip to 50 per cent.

The FAS report said these changes open the way for more imported items and that exporters are urged to make studies of the new opportunities for marketing more U. S. farm products.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

With this issue, the STANDARD starts its 58th year under Blanton Ownership. If the Naeter Brothers could wake up from their resting spot and see this office which they started in name, they would not recognize it as a newspaper office. Neither, for that matter, would any of the other Editors who preceded the writer of this editorial. If they couldn't find a piece of type in the entire building, they could not believe the paper could be printed.

Fifty-eight years ago we came to this office and the paper was eight 13em columns. Our recollection is that the entire payroll did not total over $45.00 a week which included the Colonel's take- home pay, and ours of 50 cents per week for before school, after school and during the summer. Of course, then there were no withholding or other deductions.

HISTORY UNDER ATTACK

A quarterly magazine published in New York contains a report which, we believe, should be of interest to every parent with children in school. According to the writer Walter Karp, the teaching of history is being seriously undermined throughout our educational system. "Attacked by teachers, by educational leaders, and by academic scholars," reports Mr. Karp, "the history curriculums in the nation's schools are in the process of being cut to the bare minimum."

Mr. Karp points to many such attacks. One, he says, is the charge that "history courses are the mere compilation of dead facts." He quotes an American Educator , Edgar B. Wesley, that history courses are "mere pieties," designed to teach "obedience, docility, humility." He cites a report by Dr. Charles Sellers that a California panel of educators saw "little value in retaining history in the curriculum at all"; and that the teaching of history "must be replaced by the more relevant social sciences."

In reply, Mr. Karp wrote: "The study of history, Thomas Jefferson long ago insisted, is the very heart of education, History, broadly speaking, is our record of the actions taken by men in the past that have made us what we are today. It is the record of men deciding and aspiring, using power and abusing power, in their ceaseless attempts to achieve their purposes. History thus reveals the ways of men. The lesson to be learned from the teaching of history, in its most profound sense, is the capacity of men to shape their own world. If history is taught as 'dead facts', it is being badly taught. If it is taught to inculate 'obedience' and 'docility,' it has been perverted into propaganda.

"To answer demands for a precise objective in studying history, defenders of history might well turn to Jefferson's words. In a republic, he said, the purpose of history is to 'enable every man to judge for himself what will secure or endanger his freedom.' Surely that is precise enough and relevant enough to satisfy anyone."

We agree. In order to make the vitally important decisions which must be made in the days ahead, our youth will need all the knowledge of history they can get.

'SELLER BEWARE'

The rising volume of protests against what appears to be a rather general practice of gouging the American consumer would indicate, sadly enough, that never before in our history has the old Roman admonition to "let the buyer beware" been more apropos.

The uproar, of late, has been heard at all levels- from high officials in the nation's capital, to the offices of state agencies charged with trying to protect the consumer against fraud, to the housewife who pays an exorbitant price to get her ailing electric toaster in running order again.

Most of the complaints, it would seem, are aimed at the service industries- the men who repair appliances, the mechanics who work on automobiles, the artisans who do small repair and remodeling jobs around the home, the experts who promise to keep termites and other pests from ruining residences and other buildings, and so on.

Many of these complaints are, of course, justified. It is the easiest thing in the world, for example, for an unscrupulous character to bilk the average householder into spending eyebrow- lifting sums for repairs to his tv set, simply because any tv set- and especially a color gv- is far too complicated for the average householder to understand. In short, he has no idea of how much it should cost to repair his set or replace needed parts, so he simply pays the price and cries a lot.

One trouble with all this crying is that it tends unfairly to put all such artisans in a bad light- and a considerable majority of them, in our opinion, do not belong there. The honest men who still take pride in doing an honest job for a fair price in this service field are still, we believe, far more numerous than the fly- by-nights who are causing all the screaming. And, in many cases, these reputable folk are doing everything they can to weed out the troublemakers from their chosen field.

In some other fields, however, we suspect that the truly conscientious workman - the man who takes pride in his work - has all but disappeared. We think this is especially true in the area of manufacturing, in the plants of the giant companies who make automobiles, for example, and the larger appliances on an assembly line basis.

Here, all too frequently, the buyer is the victim of slipshod workmanship all along the line. A clear evidence of this is the practice, in recent years, of automakers rushing a new model onto the market and then, a few weeks or months later, having to call it back for the replacement of defective parts or the adjustment of faulty assembly work. The manufacturer may regard this gesture as a noble concern for the safety of his customer, but the customer is more apt to regard it as a darned nuisance which never should have been necessary in the first place.

The upshot of all the squawking will very likely be the imposition of more and more and stricter and stricter federal regulations in this field, and that may, after all, be the best answer to the whole problem. If a manufacturer or a service man is so callous or crooked as to be completely unconcerned about the quality of his product or his service, then he should be forced to be concerned- or get out of business.

It's time to change one word in that "let- the- buyer-beware" warning– to substitute "seller" for "buyer."

WRITE HANOI

The American Red Cross is urging all Americans to write Hanoi, protesting the treatmentof U.S.war prisoners and appealing that their identities be made known and that they be allowed to exchange letters with their families. An airmail letter, carrying 25 cents in postage, should be addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Why? Because the Communist regime in North Vietnam needs to hear from the majority of Americans-- not just what they hear from the minority who demonstrate on our streets and campuses.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail

Fatalities from accidental poisoning have increased 70 per cent in the United States in the previous decade. Last year there were 2,400 cases, and half a million children under the age of five were made ill by swallowing toxic materials but survived.

It cost the average motorist about $1,449 to drive his car 10,000 miles a year—but even if he never took it out of the garage it still would cost him about $1,053, including depreciation, insurance and registration fees.

Japan has been hit by a bowling craze. The game, first introduced on a large scale in 1961, now has 15 million players there.

If you are looking for a good excuse to throw a party, why not celebrate the 90th anniversary of the employe suggestion box? It was originated by a British shipbuilder, William Denny, who in 1880 offered his workers 10 pounds for every idea that could be used to boost production. All together now, lads: "Happy birthday to you, dear employe suggestion box!"

Quotable notables: "Every time I hear the word sugar I get a lump in my throat."—Groucho Marx.

Where the money goes: The U.S. Department of Defense plans to spend $48.6 million during fiscal 1970 on 440 research projects in 44 foreign countries. Here are two of the more absorbing titles: In Germany, $4,000, "Dust Distribution"; in Malaysia, $20,000, "Weathering of Rocks Under Humid Tropical Conditions."

Looking for a place to get away from it all. Why not try Siberia? Although it is larger than the United States and Mexico combined, the region has a population of only 25 million.

There is a good reason why the American consumer sometimes has trouble making up his mind what to buy. Each yeieino)nme 6,500 new products are put on the market for his consideration.

If you had the lung capacity of a whale, you, too, could stay under water for an hour without having to come up for air.

There is a simple explanation of why people grow old and die. With the passage of time the organs of the body slowly lose their cell-making ability. Old cells expire faster than they can be repaired or replaced by new cells. Scientists feel human immortality would be at least theoretically possible if a drug could be found that would stimulate the body to maintain its youthful cell-making pace.

Worth remembering: "Whether a fellow ends up with a nest egg or a goose egg often depends on the kind of chick he marries."

Where do the nation's newlyweds like to go for a honeymoon? One poll put the favored sites in this order: the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, California, Florida, New York City, and Niagara Falls.

You can usually tell what kind of a husband a male bird is by his coloring. If he is somberfeathered, like his wife, he faithfully takes his turn with her in sitting on the nest and hatching their eggs. But if he is brilliantly colored, he strays from the nest—but fast—just like a lot of flashily dressed men do.

A GOOD QUESTION

People may question the validity of various features of the free market system. But, there is generally a good reason for the existence of these features.

One feature of the market system with which critics have had a field day lately is promotion and advertising. They claim it pushes up distribution costs and recommend its restriction by law. But, repression of promotion and advertising would be one sure way to wreck the free market. It would restrict consumer choice and undermine the free press which maintains its independence through advertising. Restriction of consumer choice would have far-reaching implications. For instance, those who would like to outlaw that popular form of promotion the trading stamp show the inability of critics of our economic system to think like consumers. One consumer when asked her opinion of trading stamps by a reporter observed, "I think a good many of us homemakers save stamps because it's a way of saving to have a little money of our own, outside the regular family spending. If I save a book full of stamps I can with a clear conscience turn it in to the trading-stamp store for something I want. People talk as if these days everyone has so much money to spend we can always buy anything we want. But inflation has wrecked our family budget and our plans so many times, I usually find there's no extra spending money for things I happen to want myself."

This consumer and millions like her have decided that trading stamps are a meritorious form of promotion that gives them "something instead of nothing." Just why should their decision be outlawed by critics who have demonstrated an inability to think like consumers or to understand the U.S. free market system?

LEFTIST AGITATION IN NORTHERN IRELAND

As is consistent with their usual strategy, the farleft is taking advantage of the turmoil in Northern Ireland. Bernadette Devlin, who recently toured the United States to raise funds for one of the factions, is an avowed socialist.

While in this country, Miss Devlin said that "the class struggle" was the real issue in Ireland. The Irish Echo, the leading Irish- American newspaper in the U.S. warned that she "was advocating a farleft approach, veering towards doctrinaire Marxism."

The official U. S. communist newspaper, the Daily World, gave front page coverage to Miss Devlin's trip and also gave her full editorial support. On August 23, the Daily World said: "Miss Devlin, a socialist... understands true prletarian internationalism better than many her senior in age."

Farleft agitators aren't interested in achieving justice for either side in the Irish controversy. Their goal is to cause as much trouble as possible through their influence on people like Miss Devlin, and then to take advantage of the situation. The Irish on both sides can be assured that no good can come from these agitators.

Fortunately, Bernadette Devlin's fund- raising effort in the U.S. fell far short of its goal of $1,000,000. Apparently the majority of our citizens, whether Irish or not, could see that no good could come of contributing to a cause supported by communists and socialists.

Those who truly desire to see the rights of all Irish protected should not expect Bernadette Devlin and her supporters to work for this goal, but instead to grasp for the kind of power which destroys all rights. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

SNARING SKY RAIDERS:

American Pilots Seek Global Boycott of Guerrilla Nations.

Washington, D.C.: — Sky-riding murder flows with tragic logic from the lionizing of aerial pirates by nations on both sides of the sand curtain. Arab and Western countries alike have made heroes of airplane hijackers-- and American labor wants it all halted at once.

The Airline Pilots Assn. (ALPA, AFL–CIO), with the voice of the crashing Swissair copilot saying, "Goodbye. Thanks for everything" ringing and re- ringing in their ears, is weary of rhetoric, fatigue with attendance at emergency meetings such as is scheduled by the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations for London on March 11; bitter against the glorifying of "punk" hijackers angry with Congress for not budging; irritated with the foreign unions and disgusted with the United Nations.

It wants action.

And it has moved swiftly itself. When Italian movie producers competed for the rights to the life story of the American Marine who gun-toted a TWA plane to Rome in long hops, ALPA moved in. Its president, Charles Ruby, reports he went to the AFL-CIO theatre union for a promise that such a picture would not be exhibited here. Then he sent word to Rome that aero- hijacker films would be boycotted in the U.S. by labor and the technicians needed by exhibition houses (movie theatres).

When Syrian leaders gave pomp and ceremony to the Arab guerrillas who hijacked a TWA craft to Damascus last summer and shot up the cockpit; and when Beirut officials let another young hijacker, a Frenchman, out on about $8 bail (sic), ALPA began researching techniques for a global boycott of Arab lambs.

"It is amazing what can be done to hobble Arab commerce and industry," says Charley Ruby, leader of ALPA's 31,000 commercial fliers. "We'd have to be selective. But we could cripple their oil shipments. We could paralyze their tankers. We could stall their freight-- incoming and outgoing."

By "we" Mr. Ruby means the International Transport Workers Federation (ITF). This is a London- based confederation of air, sea and land transport unions with some 7 million members. Cooperative longshoremen could refuse to service, "turn around," such tankers though this would create problems for Western Europe. But what of the 47 who were crushed to death after they reached 14,000 feet and plummeted into the free soil of Switzerland?

Certainly airport ground crews could punish the eight (possibly 10) Arab airlines which fly into West European capitals.

This would ground such lines for weeks and cost tho Al Fatah allies considerable money. As for such Western nations as Italy which refuses to yield hijackers, the ALPA would simply have the International Assn. of Machinists and other unions of mechanics, ground crews and truckers refuse to service their craft or deliver fuel intended for any one of the 16 foreign carriers which fly into the U.S.

Mr. Ruby says, "We should give those nations 48 hours to return a hijacker or boycott them here and urge our fellow unionists in the ITF to boycott them in Rome, Paris, London -- anywhere-- so they lose the income of days or weeks and they'd come through fast enough."

The American pilots' leaders have been discussing "the optiions" with the AFL-CIO's trouble- shooting second in command, Lane Kirkland.

Mr. Kirkland and his leader, George Meany, are eager to move-- for two reasons. They are frankly pro-Israel, but hijacking and murder in the sky is more than an Israeli problem. Some labor leaders believe the sky war is an extension of Maoism. Viet Cong specialists are training Al Fatah guerrillas. This means anything goes.

Thus, Mr. Meany and his AFL- CIO Executive Council colleagues see America's interests involved in first balancing the forces in the Middle East and, secondly, in an eyeball- to - eyeball Israeli - Arab peace conference without Big Four interference.

Until then, the AFL - CIO leaders want heavy U.S. support for Isarel. Last week, though unreported, the Council passed a resolution which defined this policy.

"Despite the courage and capacities of the Israeli fighting forces," says the document, "they are at a tremendous disadvantage because of the heavy military imbalance in the Middle East. Israeli armaments lag far behind those of the Arabs. The latest count is a ratio of 4 to 1. Only a correction of this imbalance could convince the aggressive Arab rulers that it is better to negotiate an honorable peace with Israel than risk another confrontation with her.

"Only the correction of this imbalance can prevent another war in the Middle East which might lead to a nuclear world conflagration. Our country's vital national interest and best hopes for world peace demand that our government should provide Israel with planes and other military supplies she urgently needs for self- defense and survival -- especially in view of the escalation of Soviet and French arms shipments to Egypt and other belligerent Arab regimes."

Obviously, on the world front, American labor is Israel's strongest and most candid ally.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--The inside story can now be told of what has been going on at the secret Long Cheng base, which three unauthorized newsmen visited in Laos last week.

The newsmen slipped away from a conducted tour and hitch-hiked to the forbidden base, carefully skirting government roadblocks. For two hours, they watched American-made planes taking off at the rate of one a minute. They also reported seeing armed Americans in civilian clothes on the base.

The Long Cheng base has been used to support the government guerrillas whom the United States has trained and supplied. The bulk of them are Meo tribesmen, who have been deadly effective at harassing the North Vietnamese invaders.

In a previous report, this column told how President Johnson, after halting the bombing of North Vietnam, merely transferred the bombing campaign across the border and unleashed the same bombers against North Vietnamese targets in Laos.

The bombing was so devastating that U.S. advisers decided their guerrillas might be able to throw the North Vietnamese off the strategic Plain of Jars. A government force of 10,000 guerrillas, commanded by Maj. Gen. Vong Pao, swept over the plain last year.

The whole operation was planned and supported by the United States. American fighter bombers and gunships chewed up the retreating North Vietnamese. American helicopters and transport planes hauled in the government guerrillas.

Once the guerrillas had captured the Plain of Jars airfield, which was given the American code name of "Lima Lima," an airlift was established between Long Cheng and the captured field.

The U.S. advisers never thought their rugged, little guerrillas could hold the plain against the superior North Vietnamese force. Rather, the operation was intended as a massive, hit-and-run attack.

Its success was spectacular. The guerrillas struck the North Vietnamese a bloody blow and captured huge quantities of supplies.

From the beginning, however, they prepared for an orderly withdrawal. They were trained to fight a delaying action while all civilians and supplies were evacuated. The plan was to leave the North Vietnamese nothing but an empty plain, except for the large burial urns that are scattered across it.

Like the attack, the withdrawal was successful. Unmarked U.S. planes evacuated an estimated 15,000 civilians and tons of supplies to the Long Cheng base. Fighter bombers from Long Cheng also hammered the advancing North Vietnamese to cover the guerrilla pullback.

This was the secret mission of the planes that the three newsmen saw during their unauthorized visit to Long Cheng. Meanwhile, the guerrillas are regrouping for more hit-and-run attacks.

TURNING THE CHEEK

For the first year of the Republican takeover, a career bureaucrat named Walter Robbins served as acting director of the anti-poverty program's Civil Rights Division. He was finally forced out last month by blacks who felt a Negro should be in charge of civil rights.

Not the least bitter over being ousted by the blacks he had been defending, Robbins turned the other cheek. He left his successor, an able Negro named Frank Kent, a thoughtful memo declaring:

"Segregation exists on a wide scale within our programs in spite of the agency's herculean efforts to eliminate it. Patterns of segregation imposed on the poor by the power structure are so well ingrained that the Office of Economic Opportunity-founded programs cannot help but reflect these patterns to a large extent."

Robbins pointed out that federal assistance is going primarily not to poor blacks but to affluent whites.

"The real beneficiaries of federal domestic assistance," he declared fiercely, "are the middle class, particularly the residents of the affluent suburbs that ring our decaying inner cities.

"Low-income Americans provide a disproportionately high share of tax revenue when measured against their incomes. Yet they receive the short end of the stick every possible way when it comes to the distribution and expenditure of tax dollars at the local level.

"This discrimination against low-income, inner-city and rural residents is compounded by the racial discrimination which gettoizes groups of people on the basis of the MIDDLE-CLASS BENEFITS

"Why should a city or county be permitted to use open space and recreation money granted by the federal government in a way which benefits the middle class to the virtual exclusion of the ill-housed, ill-fed, unemployed residents?

"Why should the federal government continue to pump large sums into highway construction and beautification which largely benefits the middle class and frequently results in freeway construction that hurts the inner-city, ghettoized minorities by pressing them into more crowded and reprehensible conditions?

"Why should local banking and real estate institutions continue to receive federal financial backing which results in more plush suburban development while the housing needs of low-income Americans go unmet?

"As long as the middle class, protected by its political power structure, continues to enjoy these benefits under these circumstances without challenge or fear of change, there is little hope for low-income Americans, particularly those forgotten ones in the inner cities and rural areas....

"The federal government must make it clear that it will no longer underwrite discrimination."

These were the parting words of an unsung bureaucrat who, himself, had been discriminated against by blacks.

Ann Landers

Grandmother, Like Others, Cannot Find Boy Doll...Only Caricatures

Dear Ann Landers: I love Wilma and show it in every way I know. She is 22 and I am 24. The only thing we fight about is that I don't say "I love you" often enough. About every ten minutes she asks, "Morris, do you love me?" I say, "Yes, Wilma. I love you." Then she says, "If you love me, why don't you say it?" Then I reply, "I DID say it. Didn't you hear me?" Then she says, "Yes, I heard you but I had to TELL you to say it." Then I say, "Wilma, what's the difference?" Then she says, "If I have to tell you to say it, it isn't the same as if you said it on your own." The next thing you know we are fighting.

Last night, Wilma started in again for the tenth time —"Morris, do you love me?" We went through the whole routine. This bugs me something awful and I'd like to know what to do about it. It's the only thing we ever battle about. —Chewed Cabbage

Dear Chewed: Some women need constant reassurance and obviously, Wilma is one of those women. Cultivate the habit of saying, "Wilma, I love you," whether it makes sense, or not. Hook it onto something else.

For example: "Please pass the salt, Wilma. I love you." It costs nothing and it will make her happy.

Dear Ann Landers; Something is bothering me and, like many others, I'm taking my gripe to Ann Landers.

I've searched this city and can't find an attractive boy doll. There are a few ugly caricatures around, but no doll that truly looks like a boy. The stores are loaded with beautiful girl dolls — complete with wardrobe for every occasion — but I am unable to buy a decent boy doll. Can you help? — Grandma

Dear Gran: I'll try. Dear Doll Manufacturers: Why don't you get busy and make some decent boy dolls? You're missing an untapped market, fellas. And P.S.: Please don't send me samples of your boy dolls. I can do nothing for you and I don't accept gift merchandise.

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a lot about people who can't seem to get anyplace on time. What about those rare birds who always show up early? Is there a cure for THEM?

A certain couple in our crowd always arrives at least 30 minutes before they are expected. If it's a dinner party, early arrivals can be a pain in the neck. A hostess has last minute things to do and she needs ever second before the first guests arrive. My routine is to get the house and food details out of the way. Then I use those last thirty minutes to shower, dress, apply makeup and pull myself together.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawnbreaker have caught me in the shower more than once.

I can't get my makeup on straight when guests are waiting and I never feel that I look right when I rush. Is there a gracious way to handle this? — Grrrr

Dear Grrr.: If guests who have been invited for 7:30 arrive at 7:00, let them lean on the bell awhile. Then greet them in a breathless state, express surprise at seeing them so early, seat them, give them something to read (nothing to drink — no rewards for cloddish behavior) and excuse yourself until 7:30.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze And You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mary Cordon of TWA

Office Workers Seminar Set

The Women's Committee of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual Office Workers Seminar on Saturday, March 14, at the Holiday Inn. One of the guest speakers will be Miss Mary Gordon, Travel Advisor for TWA.

Mary Gordon, Trans World Airlines' feminene travel advisor, flies more than a quarter of a million miles each year all over the world just to be able to pass her travel tips along to others.

Recently, Mary completed a globe-circling trip through Africa, India, Hong Kong, Bangkok and Tokyo to update herself on some of the newer areas served by TWA. Her other travels have been to Europe, South and Central America, Mexico, the Caribbean and the Bahamas.

Mary shares her travel experience by appearing at women's club meetings and conventions. Besides providing tips on the "best buys" abroad and places to visit, she makes presentations on bag packing and wardrobe coordinations. She is often featured on radio and television programs, also.

Mary, a native of St. Louis, learned to speak French and became proficient in fashion design and coordination while attending Washington University. She joined TWA in 1955 and since has done most phases of customer relations work.

Chairman of the Women's Committee, Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins, has the entire committee working on this year's seminar, which promises to be educational and interesting to all office workers.

I stopped by Little Theatre rehersal a few nights ago, and watched some of 'Blood, Sweat and Stanley Poole.' I was pleasantly surprised to find strong character development.

The murmuring conversation behind me — about costumes — was not only drowned out by, but less interesting than the monologue James Terrell (portraying Stanley Poole) was giving "on stage." Terrell is backed up by his son, Jaimie Terrell as PFC Rooney, and Bob Williamson, as Pvt. Rober Oglethorpe, an academic, strives to cram Poole with enough factual information for Poole to pass a test for rank advancement. Poole decides if he can learn from the Private, anyone can. He undertakes re-supplying his supply room with items of instead of dollars of, tuition from other officers aspiring to take the test for which Poole is preparing.

Oglethorpe's theorty of learning for tests is 'there are two kinds of tests. True-false and mutiple choice. In a true-false question, if one half of the information is famous, then the rest is probably false. If you've never heard of it at all, then it is probably true.

Don Stephens has a very real Southern drawl, portraying M/Sgt. Lucious Snow. Jean Livingston is M/Sgt. Florence Denzil and Sandy York is Mrs. Bucci (whose husband becomes one of Oglethorpe's students). They pleasantly break the male cast list. Bucci is a M/Sgt. and is portrayed by Francis Schumacher. M/Sgt. David Bell by LeRoy Parmenter, M/Sgt. J. J. LaRue by Buddy Clayton, M/Sgt. Jerry Wheeler by Chuck Lewis, Col. Egan by Allen Harris and Capt. Mal Malcolm by Mike Payne complete the cast list for this funny play. Oh, I must mention the Bucci Italian accent. Beautiful!

'Blood, Sweat and Standly Poole' will be performed in Middle School gymnasium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week. Curtain time, 8 p.m. Laughs guaranteed.

P. S. The vocabulary is definitely military. In case your ears are delicate, you've been warned. This is just as definitely not a vulgar play.

Matthews Makes Third Straight State Trip

By Ron Jaynes
Standard Sports Editor

CLARKTON -- State basketball tournament trips are becoming common for the small community of Matthews in New Madrid county, which under Jim Hart, won its third straight state tournament berth Saturday when it defeated Delta C-7 of Deering 64-46 for the class S regional hampionship.

Matthews will meet Van Buren tonight at 7:30 p.m. in a first round state tournament game at Poplar Bluff. Van Buren will also be making a repeat appearance in the state tournament, having lost to Matthews in first round play last season. It won the Lesterville title Saturday night, beating Birch Tree.

Coach Hart, who is in his fourth season as head of the Pirates, missed a class M state tournament berth in his first season at MHS, but since has been among the top 16 in their class. Matthews won the Class M title in 1968 and then went to the quarterfinals of the S last season where it lost to perienial champion St. George of Hermann.

Although the regular season was the worst as far as losses were concerned for the Pirates, who lost nine games, it has only lost two games to class S teams over the past two seasons, the first at the hands of St. George and the second this season when Parma took advantage of the loss of two starters to beat coach Hart's crew. Other losses this season were to Bernie and New Madrid twice each; North Pemiscot; Hayti North; Malden; and Charleston.

Matthews moved within one game of the 20 victory mark with Saturday's Class S title win over the Chargers, who's season ended at 20-6.

The Pirates got off to a slow start in Saturday's championship bout, finding itself trailing 14-10 in the first, as floor mistakes and cold shooting went against the favored Matthews quintet.

Coach Hart's team hustled back in the second quarter, moving into a 22-19 lead before really opening up in the second half, dominating the rebounding and taking full charge of the game as it took a 41-32 lead into the final period.

Quickness and a pressuring full court press seemed to be the key weapons of the Pirates as well as its rebounding and second half shooting.

Delta C-7 seem to tire early in the second half as the speedy Pirates set a fast pace for the game and turned in numerous fast breaks in their surge into the championship.

It was the first year for coach Mitchell Fisher's Chargers in the class S tournament, after having been in the M bracket in the privious seasons since reorganization.

Fisher praised Matthews' defense and cited his teams poor free throw shooting (6-14) and a late defensive slack as key factors in his teams loss.

''We failed to keep them from under the basket,'' commented the personalable Fisher, who's team faced the almost impossible going into the semi-finals Friday when it met the highly favored Delta Bobcats and defeated them before Saturday'.

Kara Nunn, the Pirates 6-foot All-Stater, checked the Chargers' high scoring Charlie Jones to six points on the night, The 6-foot-2 Jones went into Saturday's game with a 28 point average for the tournament.

Clarence Brooks scored 21 points for Matthews in a leading role, while teamates Nunn, Carl Bishop and Leonard Robinson added 16,13 and 10 respectively.

The Chargers were led by Paul Scott and Doc Conner, who netted 12 each. Scott led C-7's move into the lead in the opening quarter, but was checked to a mere two points in the second half.

Matthews' charity shooting was off, as the Pirates netted only 12 of 24, but its 66 per cent shooting percentage from the field made up the difference as well as its rebounding.

As the famous sign, which once was the trademark of the Pirates during regional and state tournament games, read..."How Sweet It Is"...and how that must be true for coach Hart and his Pirates.

Friday's Class S Semi-Finals

CLARKTON — The so called weak half of the Class S regional basketball tournament, Clarkton where Matthews and Delta C-7 were seeded one- two, came out of semi- final round bouts with Bell City favorites Delta and Advance Friday night.

Matthews ran its season record to 18-9 behind a balanced scoring attack in 1 76-69 triumph of Advance while Delta C-7 surprised the heavily favored Delta Bobcats 60-50.

Both winners, Matthews and Delta C-7, used teamwork, reb unding and a good defense in moving into the final.

Coach Jim Hart's defending tournament champion Pirates failed to crack under pressure at the start of each half as Advance picked up early leads before the Pirates got rolling and moved into the win behind a balanced scoring attack anchored by Leonard Robinson and Andrew Richardson's 18 point performances and will go for its third straight tournament appearance.

Advance jumped to an early 22-18 first quarter lead, but couldn't maintain the pace as the Matthews quintet roared into a 39-33 lead at the end of the first half.

The Hornets of coach Carroll Cookson rallied back in the third but couldn't keep up with the quick moving Pirates and fell back midway in the period to never regain it again as Kara Nunn and Carl Bishop added 16 points each to the Pirates total.

Russell Berrong was the big man for Advance, scoring 25 points and leading the team with 18 rebounds. Tony Jenkins added 18 and Dwight Daniel 14 for Advance.

Matthews shot a blistering 56 percent from the field, with Robinson hitting the best percentage, racking up nine of 12 field goal attempts from the 25 foot range.

For a six and one half minute span in the second quarter Advance couldn't seem to do anything right as its shots would rim the basket and its defense collapsed.

Delta C-7 put on an awsome display of power as it dumped the state's top ranked Delta Bobcats 60-50.

Coach Mitchell Fisher's Chargers edged into a 12-11 first quarter lead befory musceling its way into a 35-25 halftime lead on the way to the finals.

C-7 controled the game after the first quarter, using a tremendous defensive effort and rebounding talent to run up as much as a 15 point margin through most of the game.

Big junior center, Steve Bock was checked to six points on the night by the fired up Charger defense.

Charlie Jones lead the shooting corps of the Chargers with 18 points while Doc Conner added 13 and James Starks 10.

John Below as Delta's big gun, netting 18 points while George Cox and Mike Duncan added 11 and 10 respectively.

The Bobcats held the edge in only one period, that the fourth when it out- pointed the front running Chargers 18-12.

Delta's season ended with a 2-3 record while C-7 reached the 20 win mark and hold a 20-5 slate going into tonight's championship bout.

Van Buren Wins Lesterville Regional

LESTERVILLE — Behind a 23 point effort from Lyndell Copeland, Van Buren rolled to a 62-46 regional basketball championship here Saturday night over Birch Tree. Coming into the final battle, Birch Tree had suffered only a single defeat in the season and were posting a modest 27-1 record. But before the night was concluded, their loss column was increased to 2 with the Van Buren victory.

Birch Tree opened the first quarter with a 2 points lead, but this was the last time they would hold the lead, for Van Buren then began clicking and rolled to the victory. The final blow to the Birch Tree squad came in the last frame when Van Buren rampaged for 30 points to the losers 21.

Lydell Copeland's 23 point performance was followed by Tony Smith with 11 connections, and John Hoskins with 10.

Dalvin Cooper led Birch tree in scoring with 11 points, while teammate David Folk hit 8.

Van Buren now advances in the State brackets to meet Matthews, the Clarkton Regional winner, Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Poplar Bluff.

The St. Pius Lancers were led by Dave Goodier with 16 connections, while teammates Magre and Difini added 15 and 12 to the St. Pius total.

Class L Regional Opens Tonight At Field House

The Class L regional basketball tournament tips off action tonight at the SHS Field House with Cape Central greeting neighbor Jackson at 7:30 p.m. This is the only contest scheduled for tonight, as first round play resumes Tuesday with Charleston taking on Perryville and home-towns Sikeston doing battle with Kennett.

Although the Bengals are the tourney's top seeded Class L squad, they should have their work cut out for them in beating the Tribe from the hills of Jackson. Jackson always gives Central a bout and last year's Regional illustrates this, as the unseeded Indians knocked off the highly rated Tigers in the opening round. Central has already had one upset pulled over on them, only last Friday night at the hands of the unrated Kennett Indians.

Charleston and Perryville kicked off Tuesday's action at 7:30, as the fourth- seeded Bluejays attempt to move into the semi- finals with an opening round victory over the Pirates. Charleston places their hopes in winning on star scoring ace Henry Hall. Hall has consistantly paced the Jays to their winning slate and averaging in the high 20's while doing it. Only Friday night he rallied 37 in a losing effort to the Poplar Bluff Mules, so he will have to be controlled for any hope of a Pirate victory.

Sikeston places their hopes of repeating as the Regionals Champs on the line in the 8:30 contest as they take on Kennett. Kennett surprised Cape Central Friday and has already split two games with the Dogs earlier in the season. Two probable All- Conference selections will probably be butting heads once again in the figures of Larry Lawrence of SHS and Larry Robinson of Kennett. The duo have met only once as Robinson was absent from the contest that Sikeston won.

Action picks up again Thursday night as the winner of the Cape- Jackson and the Perryville- Charleston contests do battle at 7:00 and the survivor of the Sikeston - Kennett game goes at it with Poplar Bluff at 8:30.

Bluff drew the Tournament's only bye, as they advance into the semi-finals without playing a game. Lady luck has ridden with the Mules for two years straight now as they drew the only bye in last year's regional also.

Dixon Rules Out of Tourney

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Dixon, the defending state Class M high school basketball champion, has been tossed out of this year's tournament for using an ineligible player.

The state high school athletic association made the ruling Friday.

The player, Andrew Dillon, was used in only one game, against Osage High School in the regional tourney at Eldon. Dixon had to forfeit the game.

Jim Vieth, administrative assistant for the association, said Dixon school officials understood Dillon's family had moved into the Dixon district.

A further check, however, disclosed that the family still lived on the Ft. Leonard Wood Post in Waynesville district.

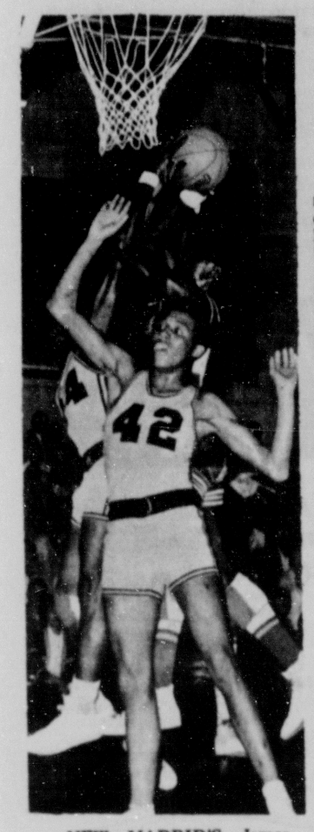
Number 13 Tops In Compton Career



NEW MADRID'S James Tucker (42) and George Ross (24) battle Malden's Willie Wilson for a rebound during Saturday night's Class M championship game at Hayti. New Madrid won 53-51 and advanced into the schools first state tournament.

By RON JAYNES
Standard Sports Editor

HAYTI — For many, the number 13 is unlucky, but for coach Carroll Compton of New Madrid it will probably be the most memorable of his 13 year reign as the chief of the Indians basketball team as it moved into its first state tournament Saturday night by edging ahead of Malden, 53-51 for the class M regional title.

The team, built on hustle, desire and a great defense, carded their 25th straight win of the season and added their third tournament championship and most sought after of the campaign. They have tucked away the Bernie invitational and New Madrid county honors as well as Saturday's Class M title and now set out for the big prize... the state championship.

It all begins tonight at Bloomfield where they will meet Dexter at 7:30 p.m. in a first round game toward the coveted class M state crown.

New Madrid will also be seeking to return the title to Southeast Missouri and New Madrid county for the second time in three seasons. Dixon claimed last year's honor after Matthews returned with the prize in 1968.

Saturday's battle was a long awaited clash by the fans of Dunklin and New Madrid counties, who had all season boasted of their teams superiority.

It was a great battle, one which might not be repeated in the state tournament or again in Southeast Missouri for some time as the defensive machine of New Madrid conquored the offensive power of Malden.

"We were very fortunate to win," commented coach Compton who was still elated Sunday over the Saturday night performance of his Tribe.

After a cold shooting first quarter in which New Madrid scored only six points and trailed 15-6, it seemed the offensive power of the Green Waves would dominate the game, but the Indians battled back with a 25 point quarter and some top defensive performances to check coach Vivan Reed's squad to 10 points and claim a 31-25 lead.

Sharp shooting George "June Bug" Ross provided the capping for the Indians win before a capacity crown, sinking a 30- foot jumper with seven seconds left in the game.

A desperiation shot by a Green Waves player from the midcourt area with two seconds left fell short as the game came to a close.

Ross, one of four seniors on the starting team, led all scorers on the night with 15 points while teammates George Mann and James "Red" Tucker added 14 and 12 respectively while seven players in all shared in the scoring.

Willie Wilson and Carl Holloway had 13 points each for the Green Waves, who put six players in the scoring column.

"Our defensive work on Malden's one- two scoring punch (Holloway and Wilson) was one of the big difference's in the game," commented the personable New Madrid mentor.

The 25 point second period and the teams working of the fast break were singled out by coach Compton as key factors in the game.

Wilson scored 11 of Malden's 14 points in the third period to keep the Waves in contention, and was dominating in the rebounding department.

Three first half fouls on the Tribels big 6-3 Tucker kept the big boy cautious through the second half as he failed to pick up another and stayed in the game to add to the team's strength.

Neither team gave any signs of giving up as they battled down to the final buzzer, which found the tribe on top 53-51.

Coach Compton comments praised the team's "never gave up" attitude and noted that "Its a sign of a good team."

New Madrid will face another battling squad Dexter tonight at Bloomfield, one which overcame late deficits to push into the Bloomfield Class M title.

Neither team gave any signs of giving up as they battled down to the final buzzer, which found the Tribe on top, 53-51.

Coach Compton couldn't say enough about his teams effort as he concluded his comments on the game by saying: "The come from behind win is something, "... and it really is.... a long awaited trip to the state tournament for him and the team.

TRJC Loses In Regional Final

ST. LOUIS — Fouls and the loss of freshman John Johnson from the starting lineup were major factors in Three Rivers junior College's 96-81 loss to Meramec Community college in the final of the Eastern division Region 16 basketball tournament at Forest Park college Saturday.

The defeat ended TRJC's season at 27-7 and gave Meramec the right to move into a clash with Moberly, winner of the Western division Region 16 tournament, for the 16 championship.

John Johnson was injured in Friday's semi-final round game against Florissant Valley. The 6- foot- 2 rebounding ace of the Raiders was greatly missed as Fouls forced four of the teams starters to the bench as the team picked up 29 personals while 52 were called in the game.

Coach Bob Cradic's Raiders of Poplar Bluff took a 41-35 lead at the end of the first half, but saw that dwendle midway in the last half as starters started for the bench with fifth fouls.

Meramec, cop- champs with TRJC for the MJCAA league title, scored 18 straight points in one spree against the reserves and were on their way to the championship.

Tony Kraus scored 32 points in leading the Meramec offense while Fred Johnson bucketed 22 for the Raiders top performance.

Engineering Students to Be Interviewed

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Highway Commission announced today it will soon begin interviewing high school graduates for its cooperative civil engineering training program.

Director of Highways Thomas A. David said the department's personnel division will select another group from this year's graduating seniors to enter the program. The program's aim is to provide practical training to correspond with the academic training. It is also designed to assist high school graudates who otherwise could not continue their education.

The student-employe follows a prescribed schedule of work phases and academic phases with the work phases stressed during the junior and senior years. Specific job assignments will increase in responsibility and salary as the student gains semester hours of credit.

The program is sponsored by the state highway commission in cooperation with the University of Missouri at Columbia and Rolla.

Candidates for the program must be Missouri citizens or the son or ward of a citizen and their educational background must qualify them for admission to the University's two civil engineering departments.

High school seniors interested in the training program should contact the civil engineering department at the school they plan to attend to obtain application forms.

All applications must be received by the school not later than April 1, 1970.

To continue in the training program a student-employee must maintain a satisfactory academic and performance record at the university and a satisfactory working record with the highway department.

Charges Filed Against 3 in 'Witch' Beating

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK. (AP) —Prosecutor Mahlon G. Gibson filed maiming charges Thursday against three persons in connection with the alleged beatings of two sisters by relatives and neighbors who thought they were witches.

Sheriff Bill Long of Washington County identified the sisters as Mrs. Sheila Garmon, 28, and Cindy Perez, 16. The sisters told officers the alleged beatings began around Jan. 3.

Long said Mrs. Garmon said the beatings were by her husband, Donald; the sisters' mother, Maria Perez; a neighbor, W.A. Brown, and his wife Sarah.

Gibson said two counts of maiming were filed against Garmon and the Browns. No charge was filed against Mrs. Perez. No arrest has been made.

The Browns and Garmon are thought to be in Texas, Long said.

The Garmons, Mrs. Perez and the Browns live within 100 yards of each other in a rural area of the county about six miles northeast of Lincoln. Garmon works for Brown, a house mover.

The sisters were reported in satisfactory condition in a Fayetteville hospital today. They were being treated for cuts and bruises.

Long said he learned of the case Tuesday when Mrs. Garmon came to the county jail.

Police said Mrs. Garmon told them she and her sister had been chained to a washing machine in Brown's house.

Mrs. Garmon said she and Cindy were accused of being witches for allegedly casting a spell on her 5-year-old daughter. Mrs. Garmon said the child had suffered epileptic seizures for some time.

At the hospital, Mrs. Garmon said she got a file, cut the chain binding her to the washing machine and ran into the woods, then went to the jail.

Assessors Endorse Income Tax Plan

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri State Association of County Assessors Friday reported it has endorsed the income tax plan which goes on the ballot April 7.

The resolution endorsing the tax law was adopted by the association's executive committee.

Meanwhile, Edwin D. Bihr of Columbia, president of the Missouri State Council on Education, announced it will meet here March 3, to discuss the referendum.

The council invited all interested in discussing the income tax revision to attend the meeting.

The council is expected to be a leader in favor of ratifying the tax law and the meeting may be the kickoff for a concerted campaign in its behalf. The tax change would produce an additional $105 million in revenue in 18 months of collections and education would be one of the principal beneficiaries.

Cost Squeeze Undercuts 18-Year Farm Price Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farm prices are the highest since the Korean War, but records show producers are in a much tighter cost squeeze than they were then.

A crop reporting board said Friday prices farmers get for their products gained one per cent during the month ended Feb. 15, the fifth consecutive monthly rise and the highest level since August 1962.

Officials also reported prices farmers have to pay for goods and services hit another record high for the month, or about 5 per cent above a year earlier.

Higher prices for cattle and hogs led the January-February advance, the report said.

But even with higher market prices for many goods, farmers still averaged less profit margin than they did back in the Korean War, another period of inflation and economic concern.

Friday's report showed that when costs of production were stacked up against prices received and other factors, farmers averaged about 75 per cent of parity—the measure used to denote full purchasing power.

Even when government payments were included, the parity yardstick was only 81 per cent.

These relationships have remained fairly constant in recent years, indicating to many people the lag of farm people in obtaining a full share of the nation's affluence.

But in August 1962—the period cited by the department Friday as the previous high mark—expenses had not risen nearly as fast.

Then, according to government records, farmers were getting prices equal to 102 per cent of parity, or about 21 percentage points more than now including payments.

The recent product price increases have helped farmers, for without them the upward spiral of costs would be much more painful than they are.

Cattle and hogs, which provide the favorite meat of consumers, continued setting the pace and economists expect their pries to remain strong at least for the next few months.

A slump in hog output has caused much of the price situation. Pork production in January was down 10 per cent from a year earlier. This, along with decreases in lesser meats, more than offset a 1 per cent boost in January meat output.

The net result was that total red meat production during January was down 4 per cent from a year earlier. And until larger hog production comes into play around mid-summer, the experts see little upsurge in total meat production.

The tight supply situation thus has put upward pressure on livestock prices.

Cattle prices rose for the second straight month after declining following peaks last June. At an average of $27.20 per hundredweight—which includes all types and grades—the February cattle price was 4 per cent more than the onth before.

Hogs made one of the biggest showings and at $27.40 per hundredweight equaled the previous 60-year high set in September 1948, the department said.

The February hog price average—even considering today's higher expenses—was just a shade under 100 per cent of parity, computed at $27.50 per hundredweight.

Cattle were quoted at 84 per cent of the parity price of $32.20 per hundredweight.

Senate Okays $15.6 Billion For Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved without dissent a $15.6 billion 10-year program to modernize and expand the nation's airport system. Most of the money would come from new cargo and passenger taxes.

Responding to the 77-0 vote Thursday Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said "this is one of aviation's finest hours and a day to be remembered by the American traveling public."

The measure now goes to a joint conference with the House for ironing out differences with a bill passed by that body last year.

The money will go into a trust fund where it will be available to states and localities on a 50-50 matching fund basis.

A minimum of $5.5 billion of the $15.6 billion is earmarked for construction with at least another $4 billion for traffic control. Sponsors of the program say they are sure all the money will be used by the time the program expires in 1980.

The first temperance society in the British colonies was probably that formed at Beaver River, Nova Scotia, in April 1828.

Pollution Board Approves Awards of $6.4 Million

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Water Pollution Board Friday night approved immediate awards of state funds totaling $6,436,816 to Missouri cities and sewer districts for water pollution control projects.

They also represent $13,935.088 in federal aid.

To qualify, the cities or districts must come up with 20 per cent of the project costs. Then the state will provide 25 per cent and the federal government 55 per cent.

In addition, the state board approved projects totaling $1,519,574 in state funds and $3,215,580 in federal funds if the local communities meet some additional requirements within the next 90 days.

Under the procedure, if the state approves a plan and awards the state funds, the federal government usually goes along and provides the additional aid.

During the hearing before the Water Pollution Board it was pointed out that Missouri was the only state in the Missouri Basin that has money available to take advantage of the federal program at present. That gives Missouri communities a head start in the battle to reduce water pollution.

The Legislature made it possibl epifb)dmissouri to act quickly when it met in special session in January. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes notified the Legislature of the Water Pollution Board's emergency request for $5,947,000 in state funds but 9di,tno recommendation.

The two houses of the Legislature overrode the governor's noncommital position and the House and Senate Appropriations Committees to make the money available despite the precarious financial situation in Missouri.

The governor did not veto the appropriation and Friday the Water Pollution Board agreed to send a vote of thanks to the governor and the Legislature for making the emergency funds available.

Some of the projects involved have been completed and the local communities are awaiting the funds so they can embark on new campaigns against water pollution, the board was told.

One spokesman told the board that "any grant moneys reved will be plowed back in new projects." Some said the money would be used to start secondary treatment plants.

The Metropolitan Sewer District of St. Louis City and County would get a major portion, including over half the federal money available. To the district it would mean $7,179,830 in federal funds and $1,684,500 in state money. That encompasses seven projects.

In 10 projects, the city of Kansas City would get $1,954,749 in federal money and $1,343,069 in state funds. In three projects, the city of Lee's Summit would get $781,650 in federal funds and $355,250 in state money.

Other allocations with the federal money (still awaiting final approval) first and the state funds awarded second include:

Carthage $15,625 and $7,100.
Clarksville $55,110 and $43,050.
Clinton $58,733 and $35,715.
Emma $108,218 and $49,190.
Fairplay $4,547 and $2,278
Hannibal $255,000 and $115,000
Lamar $32,209 and $14,640.
Marhsall none and $539,400.
New Madrid $35,200 and 16,000
Rolla $105,985 and $48,175.

If You Were the Judge

Namesake Bounty Indefinite, Invalid

Horace, who suffered from an ego problem, executed a will in which he directed his executor to pay $100 to any of "my relatives" that named their children after "me." As a result, local hospitals became a bedlam of confusion when Horace finally died. More Horace's were being born than there were warts on a pickle and they were being born to close and distant relatives of the departed Horace. Their parents all claimed the $100 bounty. As it turned out, however, Horace's executor didn't suffer from Horace's ego problem and he refused to pay off.

"The provision in the will for the $100 payment," argued the executor, "isn't legal. Horace's relatives, and there's no limit to them, could go on indefinitely naming their off-springs after him. By the 25th century only Flash Gordon wouldn't be named Horace. The whole thing is ridiculous!"

Undismaved, however, the parents took their $100 claims to court to collect.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the executor to pass out the sawbucks?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that provisions in a will cannot be enforced if they are indefinite. And, in this case, noted the judge, the term "my relatives" was too imprecise. (Based upon a 1965 New York Surrogate's Court Decision)

Demand for Teachers Is Leveling Off

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The placement service at Southeast Missouri State College had 36,337 elementary and secondary school teaching vacancies reported to it Sept. 1, 1968- Aug. 31, 1969, a report released by the placement office shows.

This represents only a three per cent increase over the previous year, considerably short of the 40 per cent increase in reported teaching vacancies which the placement service had averaged in each of the preceding five years.

"This may indicate that the demand for teachers is leveling off somewhat," Miss Bertie Cleino, director of the placement service, comments in the report.

Elementary school vacancies accounted for 12,646 of the openings reported to the college service. English with 2,390 vacancies reported led in the number of employment opportunities in junior and senior high school subject were mathematics (2051), music (1413), industrial arts (1271), history and social studies (1146), and special education (1055).

By contrast, Southeast Missouri State had 87 first- time candidates for teaching positions in history and social studies, 61 in English and journalism, and 42 in men's physical education.

Southeast Missouri State's placement service is open to alumni and present students who have completed 15 hours of coursework and are seeking a full- time job. Most of those who utilize the service are seniors who expect to graduate within a semester or two.

During the period covered in the report, 1,135 job candidates, 238 of them alumni, registered with the service, an increase of 20 per cent over the preceding year.

Besides elementary and secondary school teaching positions, 1,249 vacancies were reported in various colleges, an increase of 41 per cent, and the placement service was notified of 802 business and government openings, an increase of 24 per cent. Seventy- three business enterprises interviewed on the campus, as did 49 school systems. Most of the teachers placed took jobs in Missouri.

The median salary for all teaching candidates placed during the year was $6,346. For beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree, the median was $6,241, an increase of $366 over the preceding year.

The highest salary reported to the placement office was $10,500, which went to a person taking a management position. The lowest was $3,600 for a clerk- typist position.

The average salary in all business fields was $7,564,$1,140 more than the average for beginning teachers. The figure includes, however, the salaries of some experienced persons taking new jobs.

Red Cross Seeks Funds in March

March is Red Cross drive month in Scott county outside Sikeston, where money flows from the United Fund.

The Gulf Coast hurricane in August, left in its wake 145 dead and 41 missing as well as millions of dollars in property damage.

The Red Cross in the single emergency took care of 239,000 persons, and assisted 30,000 families, according to an announcement from Jimmy Phifer, chairman of the Scott county Red Cross Chapter.

There are 350 Scott county families with men in the armed services, who were given Red Cross assistance last year for illness communication, financial family assistance and counseling service.

Phifer pointed out:

"When a problem arises in a serviceman's home, we do all in our power to solve it. From Vietnam to military bases throughout America, 24 hour service is given by the Red Cross."

Defense Secretary Melvin pointed out:

"For the American serviceman, there just has to be a Red Cross. He must leave his family, go to strange places, or move his family. The military service just cannot give the service as well as our National Red Cross."

It takes money to for these services.

Skyline Changing At St. Jude Park

NEW MADRID — The skyline is changing rapidly in New Madrid's St. Jude Industrial park as construction work continues on the smelter and power plant there.

At the Noranda Aluminum Reduction Plant site, deliveries of heavy plant equipment are becoming more frequent as structural steel erection continues. Steel for the potline is about two-thirds erected. The frames for two other major buildings are essentially complete, with equipment being installed in them.

Most of the plant's major foundations are nearly complete, and work continues on remaining foundations and utilities. Two large alumina storage tanks are nearly complete. Two of the plant's materials handling conveyors are partially erected, including one nearly 2000 feet long which will transport alumina from the barge unloading dock on the river. The dock itself, and a bridge to it, are also nearing completion.

The first protype reduction cell is almost ready for checkout, in preparation for production-line installation of the remaining 173 cells, scheduled to start in April. These reduction cells, or "pots", are the heart of the aluminum production process currently expected to start in November.

Installation of permanent plant equipment continues, including several electrical transformers weighing over 100 tons each, and two large overhead cranes for the Potline.

The plant administration building is also nearing completion, with Noranda expected to take occupancy sometime in April.

Some typical quantities at the Reduction Plant include 215,000 cubic yards of excavation, nearly 700,000 tons of controlled fill for roads and foundations, over 34,000 cubic yards of structural steel erected, and nearly five miles of utility piping installed.

On the 600-million-watt electrical power plant, being built for the City of New Madrid adjacent to the smelter site, construction work is gaining momentum.

Several of the plant's warehouses and office buildings have been erected roads and railroads are complete for construction purposes, and excavation for foundations is well advanced. Pile driving for the power plant foundations is over half complete and concrete work has begun. Over 2000 concrete filled piles will be required to support the power plant and its equipment.

When completed this power plant will be one of the largest single-unit plants of its type in the nation.

At present, nearly 1300 construction workers are employed on he two sites.

The reduction plant is being designed and built by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland, Calif. The power plant is being designed by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City, and built by Kaiser Engineers.

BEETLE BAILEY by Mort Walker

Dr. Arthur Magill, Cape Scientist, Dies

CAPE GIRARDEAU, (AP) - Dr. Arthur C. Magill, for whom Southeast Missouri State College named its hall of science in 1952, died Saturday night at age 88. He had been in failing health.

The career of the Richmond, Mo., native at the school was distinguished by his unrelenting drive early in the century toward eradicting the dread disease typhoid.

Magill's two brothers had died and two of his sisters were left deformed by the disease when he was principal at Bonne Terre in Southeast Missouri.

He joined the chemistry department at Southeast Missouri State and volunteered to test all water samples sent to the school at no cost.

Magill later estimated he tested 35,000 samples of water, about 50 per cent of which contained typhoid germs. "There was nithing altruistic about it," he said. "I just didn't like the idea of other people suffering the same grief I had.'.

Magill, who served 43 years on the faculty, was head of the science department the last 28. He received the W. Scott Johnson Award for distinguished service from the Missouri Public Health Association and was named to the Missouri Academy of Squires in 1957.

Following retirement in 1952, Magill successfully ran three for seats in the Missouri House of Representatives and was later elected a Cape Girardeau County Associate Judge two times. He served as a district governor of Rotary International. He was a democrat.

He married Ethel Miller in Bonne Terre, June 11, 1908. She survives.

Other survivors are three sons, Roy Magille, Kirkwood, Jim Magill, Ferguson, and William Magill, Geneva, Switzerland; five daughters, Mrs. Howard Anderson, Columbia, Mrs. W. P. Hunter Sr., Sikeston, Mrs. B. B. Winn, Los Altos, Calif., Mrs. William Kaempfer, Aledo, Ill., Mrs. W. R. Nichols, Winter Park, Fla., three sisters, Miss Mayme Magill, Mrs. Orville Couch, and Mrs. Edward Irons, all of Richmond; 25 grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren.

The body is at Wather Funer Home.

Services will be in Centenary United Methodist church Tuesday at 3 p.m. with the Rev. J. Ray Trotter, and Dr. R. C. Holliday, retired, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery near Cape Girardeau.

Patrol Zone Office To Leave Pemiscot

CARUTHERSVILLE — Troop E Headquarters of the Missouri State Highway Patrol in Poplar Bluff, has announced that the Zone Office in Hayti will move to New Madrid County and possibily locate in Portageville. Hayti residents and merchants plan to meet with officers of Troop E to discuss the issue.

Lt. W. C. Brooks of Poplar Bluff told The Pemissot Journal Monday morning that the Zone Office was going to move out of the sounty but a Highway Patrol office would still be maintained in Hayti. Asked when the zone office would be moved, Lt. Brooks stated that it would be vacated as soon as they could get other quarters. The Zone Office is where local Troopers do their paper work, give breathlizer test etc.

Asked why the office was going to be moved out of Pemissot County, Lt. Brooks said, "We feel like there is going to be more traffic and things in the Noranda Plant area in Marston."

There has always been some kind of Zone Office in Pemiscot County since 1946, according to the Trooper. The office was located in a trooper's home at first but was later moved to the Municipal Building in Hayti.

"Actually it is not this important," said the Highway Patrolman.

Hayti Chief of Police Fred "Fritz" McKay stated Monday that he had already received about 15 phone calls from interested Hayti residents Monday morning. "I hate to see them leave," said McKay, "and I feel that a Zone Office is needed in Pemiscot County as well as New Madrid County." "We've had six people killed near Hayti since Friday morning," the Hayti Police Chief continued.

McKay stated that interested Hayti residents were going to meet with him and officers of the State Patrol in Hayti sometime this week.

"I am almost sure that there isn't anything we can do about their decision," said the Hayti Chief."

Treasury Bill Minimum to Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The minimum size of government Treasury bills, an increasingly popular instrument for private investment in the past year, is going up from $1,000 to $10,000, the Treasury has announced.

Paul A. Volcker, undersecretary for monetary affairs, said Wednesday increased purchases of the smaller Treasury bills is costing the government too much money and is drawing investment away from savings and loan associations, the main source of home mortgage financing.

He said small investors still will be able to purchase $1,000 Treasury notes and bonds.

Boat Seized By Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Ship radio reports today indicated a Cuban patrol boat had escorted into Cuban waters an American treasure-hunting craft it had boarded on the high seas.

A spokesman in Washington for the firm that chartered the Jocelyn-C for treasure-hunting tests said at least five persons were aboard.

The U.S. Coast Guard in Miami refused to comment.

Marine broadcasts monitored in Miami said Cuban seamen boarded the 65-foot red, white and blue Jocelyn-C Sunday and removed two Cuban crewmen before beginning escort of the American boat into Cuban territorial waters just off La Isabela on the island's northern coast.

As the Jocelyn-C and the patrol boat traveled the 140 miles from the point of the reported boarding to La Isabela, the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Steadfast watched off shore. The cutter remained outside Cuba's threemile limit.

Only four of the persons reportedly aboard the Jocelyn-C were identified immediately.

Early morning Havana radio broadcasts monitored in Miami made no mention of the incident.

The Steadfast was dispatched to the Atlantic between Cuba and the Bahamas early Sunday afternoon when the Jocelyn-C, commanded by Capt. Sten Carlson of East Orleans, Mass., reported by radio that the Cuban craft was approaching it. The vessel was 15 miles offshore, the radio report said.

Moments before the Jocelyn-C's transmitter went silent, the captain reported: "They're lowering their guns on us."

The Steadfast, a 210-foot heavy-duty cutter armed with a three-inch cannon and several machine guns, reportedly was operating under instructions not to attempt an interception of the two vessels.

The Jocelyn-C, under charter to a Washington firm known as Sub Mar, sailed from Fort Lauderdale Friday after having repairs made to its electronic treasure-hunting equipment. The equipment was to be tested during the cruise.

The Cubans reportedly boarded it near Cay Lobos, an island in the old Bahama channel north of Cuba.

Carlson's wife, Jocelyn, for whom the boat was named, said she spoke to her husband Thursday. She reported he told her a shakedown cruise had been completed and that he would call her again in about 10 days.

Mrs. Carlson lives with the couple's two children in East Orleans, Mass.

The Jocelyn-C left Cape Cod harbor Jan. 1. Carlson, 37, said at the time he was starting a three-month search for sunken Spanish gold in the Caribbean.

With Carlson when he sailed last January was William Crockett, 27, a photographer and fisherman. Crockett, a bachelor, is a native of Richmond, Va., and has living in Chatham, Mass.

Two other members of the crew were identified as Pat Fitzsimmons and Joe Campbell. Their hometowns were not known.

A British vessel identified as the Arethusa, described in Lloyd's Registry of Ships as a 318-foot, 3,152-ton training ship registered in London, was nearby when the Jocelyn-C was boarded.

B52s Pound North Viet Supply Lines

SAIGON (AP) — About 40 U.S. B52 bombers pounded a North Vietnamese supply buildup extending from inside Laos to the northern entrance of the A Shau Valley in heavy raids Sunday and today.

The eight-jet Stratofortresses dropped more than 1,000 tons of bombs on base camps, bunkers and storage areas in the northwest sector of South Vietnam and in the adjacent area of eastern Laos.

Informed sources said in Saigon last week that Hanoi had launched the biggest supply operation of the war down the Ho Chi Minh Trail and was moving hundreds of tons of war materials through the 25-mile-long A Shau Valley for distribution to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Another 20 B52s dropped 600 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese troop concentrations and base camps in the western Mekong Delta eight miles from the Cambodian border. The strikes were concentrated in the Seven Mountains region, which is used as a staging and storage area by the enemy.

Two more American helicopters were reported lost. One was shot down in the Central Highlands a mile from the Cambodian border and 112 miles northeast of Saigon, but the crewmen escaped unhurt. A second helicopter carrying South Korean troops developed engine trouble and crashed 15 miles northwest of Cam Ranh Bay, killing the American pilot and injuring three Koreans.

The losses raised to 6,456 the number of American helicopters and fixed-wing planes reported lost in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Eight miles south of Da Nang, two explosive charges believed planted by Viet Cong saboteurs ripped through a 40-foot bridge across the Song Thanh River, temporarily closing National Highway One, military spokesmen said.

It was the second time in three months that the bridge had been blown up. A 30-man platoon of South Vietnamese militiamen assigned to defend the bridge was being held for investigation, presumably to determine if they were negligent in failing to spot the saboteurs, who were believed to be frogmen.

Vial of Moon Dust Missing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A vial containing about a spoonful of moon dust is missing, the first loss in 50 displays of priceless lunar samples.

Officials disclosed Sunday that the vial, containing 2.3 grams of material from lunar rock No. 50 brought to earth by Apollo 11, disappeared the night before during a charity affair for scientific research that included a $100-a-plate dinner.

"I'm going to call it a theft," said Steven Lawrence, business manager of the institute of Geophysics at the University of California at Los Angeles, who arranged the display. "But I hope it was a joke and we'll get it back."

Pompidou to Meet Jewish Group Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Georges Pompidou meets today with leaders of Jewish organizations to discuss the pro-Israel demonstrations that have marred his visit to the United States.

More mass protests were expected today but spokesmen for the Jewish groups said Sunday night they "deplore any use of disorder or physical force to express our anguish over French Middle Eastern policy."

Pompidou's schedule also calls for a visit to the United Nations, where he will confer with Secretary-General U Thant on the Middle East situation. His schedule winds up with a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, where a major protest is planned.

Pompidou decided Sunday to go ahead with his scheduled two-day visit to New York despite misgivings and displeasure over hostile demonstrations in Chicago.

The decision came after Mayor John V. Lindsay appealed to New Yorkers to "avoid any discourtesy or other behavior that would mar this city's devotion to the lawful, peaceful resolution of all difficulties."

Hearnes Says Table Lowers Rate for Most Taxpayers

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes released an accounting today showing the effects of the proposed income tax law to be voted on April 7 and asked all Missouri newspapers to print it.

He said the tax table prepared by Price Waterhouse and Co. is being sent to all newspapers in the state to be printed as a public service. He said the chart shows over half the voters in the state would get a tax reduction if the tax bill passed by the legislature last September is approved by the voters.

State income taxes will decrease, he noted, as federal deductions and exemptions go up during the next four years.

For example, the chart shows a man and wife with two dependents and an $8,000 a year salary would pay $61.50 this year both under the present and the proposed law.

In 1971 and 1972, the new law would cut the tax to $56.50 In 1973 the present rate would be $67.50 and the proposed tax would be $56.50.

"There has been a great deal of tax reform bill," with financially conservative groups such as the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce and the Missouri Public Expenditure survey verifying that additional money is needed to finance existing services in fields such as education and mental health.

"Now the effects of the bill have been documented. Over half the voters who read this chart will find that a 'yes' vote on April 7 would reduce their taxes by putting the proposed law into effect.

"While tax rates would go up, so will deductions and exemptions. The proposed law would raise our 5 per cent standard deduction immediately to 10 per cent, and then up to 15 per cent over a period of four years. Personal exemptions would be raised over the same period of time.

"The result is that additional money would come from individuals in higher income brackets and from corporations, while families with low and medium incomes would have their taxes reduced.

"I am not asking people to take my word on this issue. The Price Waterhouse and Co. chart tells the story. Just as Missouri newspapers have served the public so well in the past, I ask them now to inform their readers of the facts before the April 7 election."

No Ceiling Sighted in Soaring Coffee Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail coffee prices are expected to soar this year and may cut even deeper into American consumption of the country's favorite brew, government and industry experts say.

Average prices already have climbed to the highest levels in a dozen years and the ceiling is not in sight. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said retail coffee prices last month averaged 82.5 cents a pound, up more than two cents from December.

A year earlier the BLS average was 76.2 cents. And for all of 1969 the average price was 76.5 cents, only one-tenth of a cent more than in 1968.

But a killing frost last July in Brazil, the world's chief exporter, severely damaged trees which produce coffee beans.

The Agriculture Department says newly planted trees will not be ready for production until about 1975. Meantime, the experts say, world coffee supplies will be tight.

No one is predicting that prices will climb to the $1.23 per pound housewives paid in August 1964, but one official guessed the average could be near $1 per pound by next winter if current conditions persist.

An industry official, representing the Pan American Coffee Bureau, called the recent price increases a "psychological scare" resulting from the freeze last year in Brazil.

The coffee trade says retail prices generally have declined since the 1958 average of 84.6 cents a pound. The low mark was 67.4 cents in 1962, when the International Coffee Agreement was put forth to help with marketings and iron out price fluctuations.

Meantime, according to Pan American Coffee Bureau surveys, American per capita coffee drinking is shrinking.

In 1962, officials said Americans over 10 years of age drank an average of 3.12 cups a day. Last year Americans averaged only 2.68 cups of coffee per day, only one-third of a cup more than the all-time low of 2.38 cups in 1950—another period of high prices.

One reason, says a trade spokesman, is that Americans are using less coffee per cup. This began during the high price era of 20 years ago when housewives, hotels and restaurants perked less coffee longer to make more brew for more people.

"They got to liking it that way," the official said. "We recommend making 40 to 45 cups from a pound of coffee. Now they're making 70 to 75 cups—they're just drinking more water."

Also, he said, surveys indicate young people are not turning to coffee as rapidly as did their parents.

"They're on a soft drink kick right now," the spokesman said.

Gulf Oil Fire Still Unchecked After 3 Weeks

VENICE, La. (AP) — It sounds like a thousand jets thundering as the giant finger of flame rises from the big offshore oil platform, weaving a blanket of gray smoke over the Gulf of Mexico.

The platform houses a dozen oil wells, owned by Chevron Oil Co. It broke into flames three weeks ago and today the platform, 30 miles off the southeastern Louisiana marshlands, is a tangled web of steel.

Fire fighting specialist Red Adair's crew is working to try to snuff out the fire and cap the wells. Before flames engulfed it on Feb. 10, the 12-well cluster was producing 900 barrels of oil daily.

There will be another problem when the fire is extinguished— oil will spill into the Gulf and may contaminate rich oyster beds.

Company officials said there is no way to estimate how much oil will spew from the wells because they are not sure how many in the group surfacing at the platform are producing.

"We're not going to make mistakes made before, like the Torrey Canyon," said Tom Riggs, assistant general manager of Chevron, referring to the big tanker which hit a reef and blackened the Cornish coast of England with its oil cargo in March 1967.

New Trend in Japan To Aid U.S. Farmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Buying habits of Japanese housewives who patronize huge new supermarkets could revolutionize U. S. farm product sales to that country, says the Agriculture Department.

Japan has long been the best cash customer of the American farmer, buying around $900 million of farm products annually. But sales of U. S. processed food has amounted to only about $20 million a year.

Now, however, the Japanese food retail system is undergoing a revolution involving more and larger supermarkets catering to the nation's thriving economy.

Thus, the Foreign Agricultural Service said today, the changes could mean a change in the types of products offered the Japanese food market.

"The new boom in supermarkets, and especially the growing links between supermarket chains and major trading and importing companies, should give a definite boost to sales of imported processed food," the FAS said in a report.

Officials said an example of the new trend in Japanese retailing was the opening last November in a Tokyo suburb of the country's first modern shopping center, including all the refinements seen in many U. S. marketing centers.

"Shoppers could put their cars in a 1,000-car parking lot and, when tired of shopping, could relax at amusements as varied as a minizoo, a bowling alley and a go-go club," the FAS said.

The new center, officials said, typified the radical changes affecting Japan's traditional merchandising by smaller specialized food stores operated by single families.

As more food sales are conducted at department stores, supermarkets and shopping centers, the FAS noted, the old family-type stores fade. In 1963 they accounted for 86 per cent of the country's food sales. Now they sell about 75 per cent, and by 1975 are expected to slip to 50 per cent.

The FAS report said these changes open the way for more imported items and that exporters are urged to make studies of the new opportunities for marketing more U. S. farm products.

A fourth highway fatality occurred Sunday morning at 7:40 a.m. at the intersection of highways 60 and 61, at the south Sikeston city limits. A Sikeston woman died in the hospital in Memphis from injuries in he collision.

Fourteen were injured in six accidents over the weekend. Two are in critical condition.

The bodies of the Chaffin family as taken to White Funeral Home in Fisk.

Binkley was not injured, but a passenger in his car, Bob Morris, 47, St. Louis had cuts on his face and was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital.

An inquest was held today at 10:30 a.m. by the Butler county coroner.

The patrol said Binkley would be held on a manslaughter and drunken driving charge.

Eula Ray, 45, resident on Harris street in Sikeston died Sunday in the Baptist hospital, according to the state patrol, as the result of injuries in the crash Sunday at 7:40 a.m. at the intersection of highways 60 and 61.

She was a passenger in a 1959 Nash, driven by Wallace D. Lee, 65, Sikeston, whose car was struck in the right side by a 1969 Chevrolet, driven by Adgin G. Yutzy, 36, Elsinore. Lee is in critical condition in Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Yutzy, his wife, Fanny, 35 and son, John, 2, received minor injuries.

Helen Marie Myers, 18, Dexter, received a neck and back injury Sunday at 7 a.m. on highway 25, two and one-half miles south of Bloomfield.

She was driving a 1967 Doge, when she ran into the side of a 1955 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by James Cantrell Jr., 34, Dexter.

The injured girl was aken to Dexter Memorial hospital.

Saturday at 7:45 p.m. on route Z, half mile south of Braggadocio two persons went to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital after an accident.

Timothy G. Giraudo, 19, Caruthersville, was driving a 1964 Ford, when he lost control, ran off the road and struck a tree.

The driver received fractured ribs and face cuts, while a passenger, Robert Howlett, 19, Caruthersville, had head cuts.

The patrol said the driver would be given a summons for careless and imprudent driving and possession of intoxicating beverages.

Sunday at 1:30 a.m. on highway 34, two miles east of Piedmont, four persons were injured.

A 1962 Falcon, driven by Arlinda Jean Wakefield, 17, Overland, ran on the shoulder, went out of control, and traveled almost 200 feet before it struck a concrete culvert on a private drive.

The driver received face cuts; and three passengers had cuts and possible internal injuries, Joyce Buck, 26, Arnold; James Huston, 23, DeSoto; and Loretta Brown, 27, Berkeley.

All were taken to Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Neither, for that matter, would any of the other Editors who preceded the writer of this editorial. If they couldn't find a piece of type in the entire building, they could not believe the paper could be printed.

Fifty-eight years ago we came to this office and the paper was eight 13em columns. Our recollection is that the entire payroll did not total over $45.00 a week which included the Colonel's take- home pay, and ours of 50 cents per week for before school, after school and during the summer. Of course, then there were no withholding or other deductions.

HISTORY UNDER ATTACK

A quarterly magazine published in New York contains a report which, we believe, should be of interest to every parent with children in school. According to the writer Walter Karp, the teaching of history is being seriously undermined throughout our educational system. "Attacked by teachers, by educational leaders, and by academic scholars," reports Mr. Karp, "the history curriculums in the nation's schools are in the process of being cut to the bare minimum."

Mr. Karp points to many such attacks. One, he says, is the charge that "history courses are the mere compilation of dead facts." He quotes an American Educator, Edgar B. Wesley, that history courses are "mere pieties," designed to teach "obedience, docility, humility." He cites a report by Dr. Charles Sellers that a California panel of educators saw "little value in retaining history in the curriculum at all"; and that the teaching of history "must be replaced by the more relevant social sciences."

In reply, Mr. Karp wrote: "The study of history, Thomas Jefferson long ago insisted, is the very heart of education, History, broadly speaking, is our record of the actions taken by men in the past that have made us what we are today. It is the record of men deciding and aspiring, using power and abusing power, in their ceaseless attempts to achieve their purposes. History thus reveals the ways of men. The lesson to be learned from the teaching of history, in its most profound sense, is the capacity of men to shape their own world. If history is taught as 'dead facts', it is being badly taught. If it is taught to inculate 'obedience' and 'docility,' it has been perverted into propaganda.

"To answer demands for a precise objective in studying history, defenders of history might well turn to Jefferson's words. In a republic, he said, the purpose of history is to 'enable every man to judge for himself what will secure or endanger his freedom.' Surely that is precise enough and relevant enough to satisfy anyone."

We agree. In order to make the vitally important decisions which must be made in the days ahead, our youth will need all the knowledge of history they can get.

'SELLER BEWARE'

The rising volume of protests against what appears to be a rather general practice of gouging the American consumer would indicate, sadly enough, that never before in our history has the old Roman admonition to "let the buyer beware" been more apropos.

The uproar, of late, has been heard at all levels- from high officials in the nation's capital, to the offices of state agencies charged with trying to protect the consumer against fraud, to the housewife who pays an exorbitant price to get her ailing electric toaster in running order again.

Most of the complaints, it would seem, are aimed at the service industries- the men who repair appliances, the mechanics who work on automobiles, the artisans who do small repair and remodeling jobs around the home, the experts who promise to keep termites and other pests from ruining residences and other buildings, and so on.

Many of these complaints are, of course, justified. It is the easiest thing in the world, for example, for an unscrupulous character to bilk the average householder into spending eyebrow- lifting sums for repairs to his tv set, simply because any tv set- and especially a color gv- is far too complicated for the average householder to understand. In short, he has no idea of how much it should cost to repair his set or replace needed parts, so he simply pays the price and cries a lot.

One trouble with all this crying is that it tends unfairly to put all such artisans in a bad light- and a considerable majority of them, in our opinion, do not belong there. The honest men who still take pride in doing an honest job for a fair price in this service field are still, we believe, far more numerous than the fly- by-nights who are causing all the screaming. And, in many cases, these reputable folk are doing everything they can to weed out the troublemakers from their chosen field.

In some other fields, however, we suspect that the truly conscientious workman - the man who takes pride in his work - has all but disappeared. We think this is especially true in the area of manufacturing, in the plants of the giant companies who make automobiles, for example, and the larger appliances on an assembly line basis.

Here, all too frequently, the buyer is the victim of slipshod workmanship all along the line. A clear evidence of this is the practice, in recent years, of automakers rushing a new model onto the market and then, a few weeks or months later, having to call it back for the replacement of defective parts or the adjustment of faulty assembly work. The manufacturer may regard this gesture as a noble concern for the safety of his customer, but the customer is more apt to regard it as a darned nuisance which never should have been necessary in the first place.

The upshot of all the squawking will very likely be the imposition of more and more and stricter and stricter federal regulations in this field, and that may, after all, be the best answer to the whole problem. If a manufacturer or a service man is so callous or crooked as to be completely unconcerned about the quality of his product or his service, then he should be forced to be concerned- or get out of business.

It's time to change one word in that "let- the- buyer- beware" warning– to substitute "seller" for "buyer."

WRITE HANOI

The American Red Cross is urging all Americans to write Hanoi, protesting the treatment of U.S.war prisoners and appealing that their identities be made known and that they be allowed to exchange letters with their families. An airmail letter, carrying 25 cents in postage, should be addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

Why? Because the Communist regime in North Vietnam needs to hear from the majority of Americans-- not just what they hear from the minority who demonstrate on our streets and campuses.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail

Fatalities from accidental poisoning have increased 70 per cent in the United States in the previous decade. Last year there were 2,400 cases, and half a million children under the age of five were made ill by swallowing toxic materials but survived.

It cost the average motorist about $1,449 to drive his car 10,000 miles a year—but even if he never took it out of the garage it still would cost him about $1,053, including depreciation, insurance and registration fees.

Japan has been hit by a bowling craze. The game, first introduced on a large scale in 1961, now has 15 million players there.

If you are looking for a good excuse to throw a party, why not celebrate the 90th anniversary of the employe suggestion box? It was originated by a British shipbuilder, William Denny, who in 1880 offered his workers 10 pounds for every idea that could be used to boost production. All together now, lads: "Happy birthday to you, dear employe suggestion box!"

Quotable notables: "Every time I hear the word sugar I get a lump in my throat."—Groucho Marx.

Where the money goes: The U.S. Department of Defense plans to spend $48.6 million during fiscal 1970 on 440 research projects in 44 foreign countries. Here are two of the more absorbing titles: In Germany, $4,000, "Dust Distribution"; in Malaysia, $20,000, "Weathering of Rocks Under Humid Tropical Conditions."

Looking for a place to get away from it all. Why not try Siberia? Although it is larger than the United States and Mexico combined, the region has a population of only 25 million.

There is a good reason why the American consumer sometimes has trouble making up his mind what to buy. Each yeieino)nme 6,500 new products are put on the market for his consideration.

If you had the lung capacity of a whale, you, too, could stay under water for an hour without having to come up for air.

There is a simple explanation of why people grow old and die. With the passage of time the organs of the body slowly lose their cell-making ability. Old cells expire faster than they can be repaired or replaced by new cells. Scientists feel human immortality would be at least theoretically possible if a drug could be found that would stimulate the body to maintain its youthful cell-making pace.

Worth remembering: "Whether a fellow ends up with a nest egg or a goose egg often depends on the kind of chick he marries."

Where do the nation's newlyweds like to go for a honeymoon? One poll put the favored sites in this order: the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, California, Florida, New York City, and Niagara Falls.

You can usually tell what kind of a husband a male bird is by his coloring. If he is somberfeathered, like his wife, he faithfully takes his turn with her in sitting on the nest and hatching their eggs. But if he is brilliantly colored, he strays from the nest—but fast—just like a lot of flashily dressed men do.

A GOOD QUESTION

People may question the validity of various features of the free market system. But, there is generally a good reason for the existence of these features.

One feature of the market system with which critics have had a field day lately is promotion and advertising. They claim it pushes up distribution costs and recommend its restriction by law. But, repression of promotion and advertising would be one sure way to wreck the free market. It would restrict consumer choice and undermine the free press which maintains its independence through advertising. Restriction of consumer choice would have far-reaching implications. For instance, those who would like to outlaw that popular form of promotion the trading stamp show the inability of critics of our economic system to think like consumers. One consumer when asked her opinion of trading stamps by a reporter observed, "I think a good many of us homemakers save stamps because it's a way of saving to have a little money of our own, outside the regular family spending. If I save a book full of stamps I can with a clear conscience turn it in to the trading-stamp store for something I want. People talk as if these days everyone has so much money to spend we can always buy anything we want. But inflation has wrecked our family budget and our plans so many times, I usually find there's no extra spending money for things I happen to want myself."

This consumer and millions like her have decided that trading stamps are a meritorious form of promotion that gives them "something instead of nothing." Just why should their decision be outlawed by critics who have demonstrated an inability to think like consumers or to understand the U.S. free market system?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--The inside story can now be told of what has been going on at the secret Long Cheng base, which three unauthorized newsmen visited in Laos last week.

The newsmen slipped away from a conducted tour and hitch-hiked to the forbidden base, carefully skirting government roadblocks. For two hours, they watched American-made planes taking off at the rate of one a minute. They also reported seeing armed Americans in civilian clothes on the base.

The Long Cheng base has been used to support the government guerrillas whom the United States has trained and supplied. The bulk of them are Meo tribesmen, who have been deadly effective at harassing the North Vietnamese invaders.

In a previous report, this column told how President Johnson, after halting the bombing of North Vietnam, merely transferred the bombing campaign across the border and unleashed the same bombers against North Vietnamese targets in Laos.

The bombing was so devastating that U.S. advisers decided their guerrillas might be able to throw the North Vietnamese off the strategic Plain of Jars. A government force of 10,000 guerrillas, commanded by Maj. Gen. Vong Pao, swept over the plain last year.

The whole operation was planned and supported by the United States. American fighter bombers and gunships chewed up the retreating North Vietnamese. American helicopters and transport planes hauled in the government guerrillas.

Once the guerrillas had captured the Plain of Jars airfield, which was given the American code name of "Lima Lima," an airlift was established between Long Cheng and the captured field.

The U.S. advisers never thought their rugged, little guerrillas could hold the plain against the superior North Vietnamese force. Rather, the operation was intended as a massive, hit-and-run attack.

Its success was spectacular. The guerrillas struck the North Vietnamese a bloody blow and captured huge quantities of supplies.

From the beginning, however, they prepared for an orderly withdrawal. They were trained to fight a delaying action while all civilians and supplies were evacuated. The plan was to leave the North Vietnamese nothing but an empty plain, except for the large burial urns that are scattered across it.

Like the attack, the withdrawal was successful. Unmarked U.S. planes evacuated an estimated 15,000 civilians and tons of supplies to the Long Cheng base. Fighter bombers from Long Cheng also hammered the advancing North Vietnamese to cover the guerrilla pullback.

This was the secret mission of the planes that the three newsmen saw during their unauthorized visit to Long Cheng. Meanwhile, the guerrillas are regrouping for more hit-and-run attacks.

TURNING THE CHEEK

For the first year of the Republican takeover, a career bureaucrat named Walter Robbins served as acting director of the anti-poverty program's Civil Rights Division. He was finally forced out last month by blacks who felt a Negro should be in charge of civil rights.

Not the least bitter over being ousted by the blacks he had been defending, Robbins turned the other cheek. He left his successor, an able Negro named Frank Kent, a thoughtful memo declaring:

"Segregation exists on a wide scale within our programs in spite of the agency's herculean efforts to eliminate it. Patterns of segregation imposed on the poor by the power structure are so well ingrained that the Office of Economic Opportunity-founded programs cannot help but reflect these patterns to a large extent."

Robbins pointed out that federal assistance is going primarily not to poor blacks but to affluent whites.

"The real beneficiaries of federal domestic assistance," he declared fiercely, "are the middle class, particularly the residents of the affluent suburbs that ring our decaying inner cities.

"Low-income Americans provide a disproportionately high share of tax revenue when measured against their incomes. Yet they receive the short end of the stick every possible way when it comes to the distribution and expenditure of tax dollars at the local level.

"This discrimination against low-income, inner-city and rural residents is compounded by the racial discrimination which gettoizes groups of people on the basis of the MIDDLE-CLASS BENEFITS

"Why should a city or county be permitted to use open space and recreation money granted by the federal government in a way which benefits the middle class to the virtual exclusion of the ill-housed, ill-fed, unemployed residents?

"Why should the federal government continue to pump large sums into highway construction and beautification which largely benefits the middle class and frequently results in freeway construction that hurts the inner-city, ghettoized minorities by pressing them into more crowded and reprehensible conditions?

"Why should local banking and real estate institutions continue to receive federal financial backing which results in more plush suburban development while the housing needs of low-income Americans go unmet?

"As long as the middle class, protected by its political power structure, continues to enjoy these benefits under these circumstances without challenge or fear of change, there is little hope for low-income Americans, particularly those forgotten ones in the inner cities and rural areas....

"The federal government must make it clear that it will no longer underwrite discrimination."

These were the parting words of an unsung bureaucrat who, himself, had been discriminated against by blacks.

LEFTIST AGITATION IN NORTHERN IRELAND

As is consistent with their usual strategy, the farleft is taking advantage of the turmoil in Northern Ireland. Bernadette Devlin, who recently toured the United States to raise funds for one of the factions, is an avowed socialist.

While in this country, Miss Devlin said that "the class struggle" was the real issue in Ireland. The Irish Echo, the leading Irish- American newspaper in the U.S. warned that she "was advocating a farleft approach, veering towards doctrinaire Marxism."

The official U. S. communist newspaper, the Daily World, gave front page coverage to Miss Devlin's trip and also gave her full editorial support. On August 23, the Daily World said: "Miss Devlin, a socialist... understands true prletarian internationalism better than many her senior in age."

Farleft agitators aren't interested in achieving justice for either side in the Irish controversy. Their goal is to cause as much trouble as possible through their influence on people like Miss Devlin, and then to take advantage of the situation. The Irish on both sides can be assured that no good can come from these agitators.

Fortunately, Bernadette Devlin's fund- raising effort in the U.S. fell far short of its goal of $1,000,000. Apparently the majority of our citizens, whether Irish or not, could see that no good could come of contributing to a cause supported by communists and socialists.

Those who truly desire to see the rights of all Irish protected should not expect Bernadette Devlin and her supporters to work for this goal, but instead to grasp for the kind of power which destroys all rights. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

SNARING SKY RAIDERS:

American Pilots Seek Global Boycott of Guerrilla Nations.

Washington, D.C.: — Sky-riding murder flows with tragic logic from the lionizing of aerial pirates by nations on both sides of the sand curtain. Arab and Western countries alike have made heroes of airplane hijackers-- and American labor wants it all halted at once.

The Airline Pilots Assn. (ALPA, AFL–CIO), with the voice of the crashing Swissair copilot saying, "Goodbye. Thanks for everything" ringing and re- ringing in their ears, is weary of rhetoric, fatigue with attendance at emergency meetings such as is scheduled by the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations for London on March 11; bitter against the glorifying of "punk" hijackers angry with Congress for not budging; irritated with the foreign unions and disgusted with the United Nations.

It wants action.

And it has moved swiftly itself. When Italian movie producers competed for the rights to the life story of the American Marine who gun-toted a TWA plane to Rome in long hops, ALPA moved in. Its president, Charles Ruby, reports he went to the AFL-CIO theatre union for a promise that such a picture would not be exhibited here. Then he sent word to Rome that aero- hijacker films would be boycotted in the U.S. by labor and the technicians needed by exhibition houses (movie theatres).

When Syrian leaders gave pomp and ceremony to the Arab guerrillas who hijacked a TWA craft to Damascus last summer and shot up the cockpit; and when Beirut officials let another young hijacker, a Frenchman, out on about $8 bail (sic), ALPA began researching techniques for a global boycott of Arab lambs.

"It is amazing what can be done to hobble Arab commerce and industry," says Charley Ruby, leader of ALPA's 31,000 commercial fliers. "We'd have to be selective. But we could cripple their oil shipments. We could paralyze their tankers. We could stall their freight-- incoming and outgoing."

By "we" Mr. Ruby means the International Transport Workers Federation (ITF). This is a London- based confederation of air, sea and land transport unions with some 7 million members. Cooperative longshoremen could refuse to service, "turn around," such tankers though this would create problems for Western Europe. But what of the 47 who were crushed to death after they reached 14,000 feet and plummeted into the free soil of Switzerland?

Certainly airport ground crews could punish the eight (possibly 10) Arab airlines which fly into West European capitals.

This would ground such lines for weeks and cost the Al Fatah allies considerable money. As for such Western nations as Italy which refuses to yield hijackers, the ALPA would simply have the International Assn. of Machinists and other unions of mechanics, ground crews and truckers refuse to service their craft or deliver fuel intended for any one of the 16 foreign carriers which fly into the U.S.

Mr. Ruby says, "We should give those nations 48 hours to return a hijacker or boycott them here and urge our fellow unionists in the ITF to boycott them in Rome, Paris, London -- anywhere-- so they lose the income of days or weeks and they'd come through fast enough."

The American pilots' leaders have been discussing "the optiions" with the AFL-CIO's trouble- shooting second in command, Lane Kirkland.

Mr. Kirkland and his leader, George Meany, are eager to move-- for two reasons. They are frankly pro-Israel, but hijacking and murder in the sky is more than an Israeli problem. Some labor leaders believe the sky war is an extension of Maoism. Viet Cong specialists are training Al Fatah guerrillas. This means anything goes.

Thus, Mr. Meany and his AFL- CIO Executive Council colleagues see America's interests involved in first balancing the forces in the Middle East and, secondly, in an eyeball- to - eyeball Israeli - Arab peace conference without Big Four interference.

Until then, the AFL - CIO leaders want heavy U.S. support for Isarel. Last week, though unreported, the Council passed a resolution which defined this policy.

"Despite the courage and capacities of the Israeli fighting forces," says the document, "they are at a tremendous disadvantage because of the heavy military imbalance in the Middle East. Israeli armaments lag far behind those of the Arabs. The latest count is a ratio of 4 to 1. Only a correction of this imbalance could convince the aggressive Arab rulers that it is better to negotiate an honorable peace with Israel than risk another confrontation with her.

"Only the correction of this imbalance can prevent another war in the Middle East which might lead to a nuclear world conflagration. Our country's vital national interest and best hopes for world peace demand that our government should provide Israel with planes and other military supplies she urgently needs for self- defense and survival -- especially in view of the escalation of Soviet and French arms shipments to Egypt and other belligerent Arab regimes."

Obviously, on the world front, American labor is Israel's strongest and most candid ally.

Ann Landers

Grandmother, Like Others, Cannot Find Boy Doll...Only Caricatures

Dear Ann Landers: I love Wilma and show it in every way I know. She is 22 and I am 24. The only thing we fight about is that I don't say "I love you" often enough. About every ten minutes she asks, "Morris, do you love me?' I say, "Yes, Wilma. I love you." Then she says, "If you love me, why don't you say it?' Then I reply, "I DID say it. Didn't you hear me?' Then she says, "Yes, I heard you but I had to TELL you to say it." Then I say, "Wilma, what's the difference?' Then she says, "If I have to tell you to say it, it isn't the same as if you said it on your own." The next thing you know we are fighting.

Last night, Wilma started in again for the tenth time --"Morris, do you love me?' We went through the whole routine. This bugs me something awful and I'd like to know what to do about it. It's the only thing we ever battle about. --Chewed Cabbage

Dear Chewed: Some women need constant reassurance and obviously, Wilma is one of those women. Cultivate the habit of saying, "Wilma, I love you," whether it makes sense, or not. Hook it onto something else.

For example: "Please pass the salt, Wilma. I love you." It costs nothing and it will make her happy.

Dear Ann Landers; Something is bothering me and, like many others, I'm taking my gripe to Ann Landers.

I've searched this city and can't find an attractive boy doll. There are a few ugly caricatures around, but no doll that truly looks like a boy. The stores are loaded with beautiful girl dolls -- complete with wardrobe for every occasion -- but I am unable to buy a decent boy doll. Can you help?-- Grandma

Dear Gran: I'll try. Dear Doll Manufacturers: Why don't you get busy and make some decent boy dolls? You're missing an untapped market, fellas. And P.S.: Please don't send me samples of your boy dolls. I can do nothing for you and I don't accept gift merchandise.

Dear Ann Landers: We hear a lot about people who can't seem to get anyplace on time. What about those rare birds who always show up early? Is there a cure for THEM?

A certain couple in our crowd always arrives at least 30 minutes before they are expected. If it's a dinner party, early arrivals can be a pain in the neck. A hostess has last minute things to do and she needs ever second before the first guests arrive. My routine is to get the house and food details out of the way. Then I use those last thirty minutes to shower, dress, apply makeup and pull myself together.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawnbreaker have caught me in the shower more than once.

I can't get my makeup on straight when guests are waiting and I never feel that I look right when I rush. Is there a gracious way to handle this?--Grrrr

Dear Grrr.: If guests who have been invited for 7:30 arrive at 7:00, let them lean on the bell awhile. Then greet them in a breathless state, express surprise at seeing them so early, seat them, give them something to read (nothing to drink -- no rewards for cloddish behavior) and excuse yourself until 7:30.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze And You -- For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mary Cordon of TWA

Office Workers Seminar Set

The Women's Committee of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its annual Office Workers Seminar on Saturday, March 14, at the Holiday Inn. One of the guest speakers will be Miss Mary Gordon, Travel Advisor for TWA.

Mary Gordon, Trans World Airlines' feminene travel advisor, flies more than a quarter of a million miles each year all over the world just to be able to pass her travel tips along to others.

Recently, Mary completed a globe-circling trip through Africa, India, Hong Kong, Bangkok and Tokyo to update herself on some of the newer areas served by TWA. Her other travels have been to Europe, South and Central America, Mexico, the Caribbean and the Bahamas.

Mary shares her travel experience by appearing at women's club meetings and conventions. Besides providing tips on the "best buys" abroad and places to visit, she makes presentations on bag packing and wardrobe coordinations. She is often featured on radio and television programs, also.

Mary, a native of St. Louis, learned to speak French and became proficient in fashion design and coordination while attending Washington University. She joined TWA in 1955 and since has done most phases of customer relations work.

Chairman of the Women's Committee, Mrs. Marjorie Hopkins, has the entire committee working on this year's seminar, which promises to be educational and interesting to all office workers.

Entertainment Column

I stopped by Little Theatre rehersal a few nights ago, and watched some of 'Blood, Sweat and Stanley Poole.' I was pleasantly surprised to find strong character development.

The murmuring conversation behind me - about costumes-- was not only drowned out by, but less interesting than the monologue James Terrell (portraying Stanley Poole) was giving "on stage." Terrell is backed up by his son, Jaimie Terrell as PFC Rooney, and Bob Williamson, as Pvt. Rober Oglethorpe, an academic, strives to cram Poole with enough factual information for Poole to pass a test for rank advancement. Poole decides if he can learn from the Private, anyone can. He undertakes re-supplying his supply room with items of instead of dollars of, tuition from other officers aspiring to take the test for which Poole is preparing.

Oglethorpe's theorty of learning for tests is 'there are two kinds of tests. True-false and mutiple choice. In a true-false question, if one half of the information is famous, then the rest is probably false. If you've never heard of it at all, then it is probably true.

Don Stephens has a very real Southern drawl, portraying M/Sgt. Lucious Snow. Jean Livingston is M/Sgt. Florence Denzil and Sandy York is Mrs. Bucci (whose husband becomes one of Oglethorpe's students). They pleasantly break the male cast list. Bucci is a M/Sgt. and is portrayed by Francis Schumacher. M/Sgt. David Bell by LeRoy Parmenter, M/Sgt. J. J. LaRue by Buddy Clayton, M/Sgt. Jerry Wheeler by Chuck Lewis, Col. Egan by Allen Harris and Capt. Mal Malcolm by Mike Payne complete the cast list for this funny play. Oh, I must mention the Bucci Italian accent. Beautiful!

'Blood, Sweat and Standly Poole' will be performed in Middle School gymnasium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week. Curtain time, 8 p.m. Laughs guaranteed.

P. S. The vocabulary is definitely military. In case your ears are delicate, you've been warned. This is just as definitely not a vulgar play.

Matthews Makes Third Straight State Trip

By Ron Jaynes
Standard Sports Editor

CLARKTON -- State basketball tournament trips are becoming common for the small community of Matthews in New Madrid county, which under Jim Hart, won its third straight state tournament berth Saturday when it defeated Delta C-7 of Deering 64-46 for the class S regional hampionship.

Matthews will meet Van Buren tonight at 7:30 p.m. in a first round state tournament game at Poplar Bluff. Van Buren will also be making a repeat appearance in the state tournament, having lost to Matthews in first round play last season. It won the Lesterville title Saturday night, beating Birch Tree.

Coach Hart, who is in his fourth season as head of the Pirates, missed a class M state tournament berth in his first season at MHS, but since has been among the top 16 in their class. Matthews won the Class M title in 1968 and then went to the quarterfinals of the S last season where it lost to perienial champion St. George of Hermann.

Although the regular season was the worst as far as losses were concerned for the Pirates, who lost nine games, it has only lost two games to class S teams over the past two seasons, the first at the hands of St. George and the second this season when Parma took advantage of the loss of two starters to beat coach Hart's crew. Other losses this season were to Bernie and New Madrid twice each; North Pemiscot; Hayti North; Malden; and Charleston.

Matthews moved within one game of the 20 victory mark with Saturday's Class S title win over the Chargers, who's season ended at 20-6.

The Pirates got off to a slow start in Saturday's championship bout, finding itself trailing 14-10 in the first, as floor mistakes and cold shooting went against the favored Matthews quintet.

Coach Hart's team hustled back in the second quarter, moving into a 22-19 lead before really opening up in the second half, dominating the rebounding and taking full charge of the game as it took a 41-32 lead into the final period.

Quickness and a pressuring full court press seemed to be the key weapons of the Pirates as well as its rebounding and second half shooting.

Delta C-7 seem to tire early in the second half as the speedy Pirates set a fast pace for the game and turned in numerous fast breaks in their surge into the championship.

It was the first year for coach Mitchell Fisher's Chargers in the class S tournament, after having been in the M bracket in the privious seasons since reorganization.

Fisher praised Matthews' defense and cited his teams poor free throw shooting (6-14) and a late defensive slack as key factors in his teams loss.

''We failed to keep them from under the basket,'' commented the personalable Fisher, who's team faced the almost impossible going into the semi-finals Friday when it met the highly favored Delta Bobcats and defeated them before Saturday'.

Kara Nunn, the Pirates 6-foot All-Stater, checked the Chargers' high scoring Charlie Jones to six points on the night, The 6-foot-2 Jones went into Saturday's game with a 28 point average for the tournament.

Clarence Brooks scored 21 points for Matthews in a leading role, while teamates Nunn, Carl Bishop and Leonard Robinson added 16,13 and 10 respectively.

The Chargers were led by Paul Scott and Doc Conner, who netted 12 each. Scott led C-7's move into the lead in the opening quarter, but was checked to a mere two points in the second half.

Matthews' charity shooting was off, as the Pirates netted only 12 of 24, but its 66 per cent shooting percentage from the field made up the difference as well as its rebounding.

As the famous sign, which once was the trademark of the Pirates during regional and state tournament games, read..."How Sweet It Is"...and how that must be true for coach Hart and his Pirates.

Friday's Class S Semi-Finals

CLARKTON — The so called weak half of the Class S regional basketball tournament, Clarkton where Matthews and Delta C-7 were seeded one- two, came out of semi- final round bouts with Bell City favorites Delta and Advance Friday night.

Matthews ran its season record to 18-9 behind a balanced scoring attack in 1 76-69 triumph of Advance while Delta C-7 surprised the heavily favored Delta Bobcats 60-50.

Both winners, Matthews and Delta C-7, used teamwork, reb unding and a good defense in moving into the final.

Coach Jim Hart's defending tournament champion Pirates failed to crack under pressure at the start of each half as Advance picked up early leads before the Pirates got rolling and moved into the win behind a balanced scoring attack anchored by Leonard Robinson and Andrew Richardson's 18 point performances and will go for its third straight tournament appearance.

Advance jumped to an early 22-18 first quarter lead, but couldn't maintain the pace as the Matthews quintet roared into a 39-33 lead at the end of the first half.

The Hornets of coach Carroll Cookson rallied back in the third but couldn't keep up with the quick moving Pirates and fell back midway in the period to never regain it again as Kara Nunn and Carl Bishop added 16 points each to the Pirates total.

Russell Berrong was the big man for Advance, scoring 25 points and leading the team with 18 rebounds. Tony Jenkins added 18 and Dwight Daniel 14 for Advance.

Matthews shot a blistering 56 percent from the field, with Robinson hitting the best percentage, racking up nine of 12 field goal attempts from the 25 foot range.

For a six and one half minute span in the second quarter Advance couldn't seem to do anything right as its shots would rim the basket and its defense collapsed.

Delta C-7 put on an awsome display of power as it dumped the state's top ranked Delta Bobcats 60-50.

Coach Mitchell Fisher's Chargers edged into a 12-11 first quarter lead befory musceling its way into a 35-25 halftime lead on the way to the finals.

C-7 controled the game after the first quarter, using a tremendous defensive effort and rebounding talent to run up as much as a 15 point margin through most of the game.

Big junior center, Steve Bock was checked to six points on the night by the fired up Charger defense.

Charlie Jones lead the shooting corps of the Chargers with 18 points while Doc Conner added 13 and James Starks 10.

John Below as Delta's big gun, netting 18 points while George Cox and Mike Duncan added 11 and 10 respectively.

The Bobcats held the edge in only one period, that the fourth when it out- pointed the front running Chargers 18-12.

Delta's season ended with a 2-3 record while C-7 reached the 20 win mark and hold a 20-5 slate going into tonight's championship bout.

Van Buren Wins Lesterville Regional

LESTERVILLE — Behind a 23 point effort from Lyndell Copeland, Van Buren rolled to a 62-46 regional basketball championship here Saturday night over Birch Tree. Coming into the final battle, Birch Tree had suffered only a single defeat in the season and were posting a modest 27-1 record. But before the night was concluded, their loss column was increased to 2 with the Van Buren victory.

Birch Tree opened the first quarter with a 2 points lead, but this was the last time they would hold the lead, for Van Buren then began clicking and rolled to the victory. The final blow to the Birch Tree squad came in the last frame when Van Buren rampaged for 30 points to the losers 21.

Lydell Copeland's 23 point performance was followed by Tony Smith with 11 connections, and John Hoskins with 10.

Dalvin Cooper led Birch tree in scoring with 11 points, while teammate David Folk hit 8.

Van Buren now advances in the State brackets to meet Matthews, the Clarkton Regional winner, Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Poplar Bluff.

The St. Pius Lancers were led by Dave Goodier with 16 connections, while teammates Magre and Difini added 15 and 12 to the St. Pius total.

Class L Regional Opens Tonight At Field House

The Class L regional basketball tournament tips off action tonight at the SHS Field House with Cape Central greeting neighbor Jackson at 7:30 p.m. This is the only contest scheduled for tonight, as first round play resumes Tuesday with Charleston taking on Perryville and home-towns Sikeston doing battle with Kennett.

Although the Bengals are the tourney's top seeded Class L squad, they should have their work cut out for them in beating the Tribe from the hills of Jackson. Jackson always gives Central a bout and last year's Regional illustrates this, as the unseeded Indians knocked off the highly rated Tigers in the opening round. Central has already had one upset pulled over on them, only last Friday night at the hands of the unrated Kennett Indians.

Charleston and Perryville kicked off Tuesday's action at 7:30, as the fourth- seeded Bluejays attempt to move into the semi- finals with an opening round victory over the Pirates. Charleston places their hopes in winning on star scoring ace Henry Hall. Hall has consistantly paced the Jays to their winning slate and averaging in the high 20's while doing it. Only Friday night he rallied 37 in a losing effort to the Poplar Bluff Mules, so he will have to be controlled for any hope of a Pirate victory.

Sikeston places their hopes of repeating as the Regionals Champs on the line in the 8:30 contest as they take on Kennett. Kennett surprised Cape Central Friday and has already split two games with the Dogs earlier in the season. Two probable All- Conference selections will probably be butting heads once again in the figures of Larry Lawrence of SHS and Larry Robinson of Kennett. The duo have met only once as Robinson was absent from the contest that Sikeston won.

Action picks up again Thursday night as the winner of the Cape- Jackson and the Perryville- Charleston contests do battle at 7:00 and the survivor of the Sikeston - Kennett game goes at it with Poplar Bluff at 8:30.

Bluff drew the Tournament's only bye, as they advance into the semi-finals without playing a game. Lady luck has ridden with the Mules for two years straight now as they drew the only bye in last year's regional also.

Dixon Rules Out of Tourney

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Dixon, the defending state Class M high school basketball champion, has been tossed out of this year's tournament for using an ineligible player.

The state high school athletic association made the ruling Friday.

The player, Andrew Dillon, was used in only one game, against Osage High School in the regional tourney at Eldon. Dixon had to forfeit the game.

Jim Vieth, administrative assistant for the association, said Dixon school officials understood Dillon's family had moved into the Dixon district.

A further check, however, disclosed that the family still lived on the Ft. Leonard Wood Post in Waynesville district.

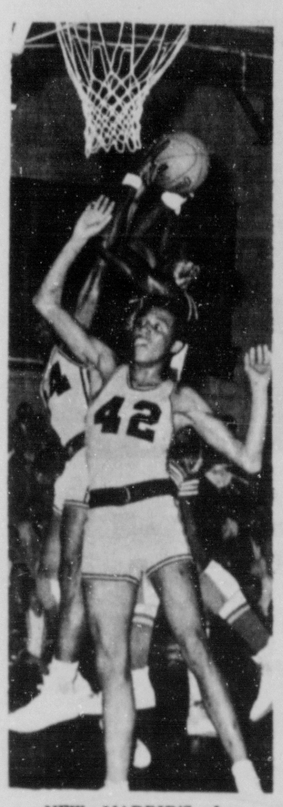
Number 13 Tops In Compton Career



NEW MADRID'S James Tucker (42) and George Ross (24) battle Malden's Willie Wilson for a rebound during Saturday night's Class M championship game at Hayti. New Madrid won 53-51 and advanced into the schools first state tournament.

By RON JAYNES
Standard Sports Editor

HAYTI — For many, the number 13 is unlucky, but for coach Carroll Compton of New Madrid it will probably be the most memorable of his 13 year reign as the chief of the Indians basketball team as it moved into its first state tournament Saturday night by edging ahead of Malden, 53-51 for the class M regional title.

The team, built on hustle, desire and a great defense, carded their 25th straight win of the season and added their third tournament championship and most sought after of the campaign. They have tucked away the Bernie invitational and New Madrid county honors as well as Saturday's Class M title and now set out for the big prize... the state championship.

It all begins tonight at Bloomfield where they will meet Dexter at 7:30 p.m. in a first round game toward the coveted class M state crown.

New Madrid will also be seeking to return the title to Southeast Missouri and New Madrid county for the second time in three seasons. Dixon claimed last year's honor after Matthews returned with the prize in 1968.

Saturday's battle was a long awaited clash by the fans of Dunklin and New Madrid counties, who had all season boasted of their teams superiority.

It was a great battle, one which might not be repeated in the state tournament or again in Southeast Missouri for some time as the defensive machine of New Madrid conquored the offensive power of Malden.

"We were very fortunate to win," commented coach Compton who was still elated Sunday over the Saturday night performance of his Tribe

After a cold shooting first quarter in which New Madrid scored only six points and trailed 15-6, it seemed the offensive power of the Green Waves would dominate the game, but the Indians battled back with a 25 point quarter and some top defensive performances to check coach Vivan Reed's squad to 10 points and claim a 31-25 lead.

Sharp shooting George "June Bug" Ross provided the capping for the Indians win before a capacity crown, sinking a 30- foot jumper with seven seconds left in the game.

A desperiation shot by a Green Waves player from the midcourt area with two seconds left fell short as the game came to a close.

Ross, one of four seniors on the starting team, led all scorers on the night with 15 points while teammates George Mann and James "Red" Tucker added 14 and 12 respectively while seven players in all shared in the scoring.

Willie Wilson and Carl Holloway had 13 points each for the Green Waves, who put six players in the scoring column.

"Our defensive work on Malden's one- two scoring punch (Holloway and Wilson) was one of the big difference's in the game," commented the personable New Madrid mentor.

The 25 point second period and the teams working of the fast break were singled out by coach Compton as key factors in the game.

Wilson scored 11 of Malden's 14 points in the third period to keep the Waves in contention, and was dominating in the rebounding department.

Three first half fouls on the Tribels big 6-3 Tucker kept the big boy cautious through the second half as he failed to pick up another and stayed in the game to add to the team's strength.

Neither team gave any signs of giving up as they battled down to the final buzzer, which found the tribe on top 53-51.

Coach Compton comments praised the team's "never gave up" attitude and noted that "Its a sign of a good team."

New Madrid will face another battling squad Dexter tonight at Bloomfield, one which overcame late deficits to push into the Bloomfield Class M title.

Neither team gave any signs of giving up as they battled down to the final buzzer, which found the Tribe on top, 53-51.

Coach Compton couldn't say enough about his teams effort as he concluded his comments on the game by saying: "The come from behind win is something, "... and it really is.... a long awaited trip to the state tournament for him and the team.

TRJC Loses In Regional Final

ST. LOUIS — Fouls and the loss of freshman John Johnson from the starting lineup were major factors in Three Rivers junior College's 96-81 loss to Meramec Community college in the final of the Eastern division Region 16 basketball tournament at Forest Park college Saturday.

The defeat ended TRJC's season at 27-7 and gave Meramec the right to move into a clash with Moberly, winner of the Western division Region 16 tournament, for the 16 championship.

John Johnson was injured in Friday's semi-final round game against Florissant Valley. The 6- foot- 2 rebounding ace of the Raiders was greatly missed as Fouls forced four of the teams starters to the bench as the team picked up 29 personals while 52 were called in the game.

Coach Bob Cradic's Raiders of Poplar Bluff took a 41-35 lead at the end of the first half, but saw that dwendle midway in the last half as starters started for the bench with fifth fouls.

Meramec, cop- champs with TRJC for the MJCAA league title, scored 18 straight points in one spree against the reserves and were on their way to the championship.

Tony Kraus scored 32 points in leading the Meramec offense while Fred Johnson bucketed 22 for the Raiders top performance.

Engineering Students to Be Interviewed

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Highway Commission announced today it will soon begin interviewing high school graduates for its cooperative civil engineering training program.

Director of Highways Thomas A. David said the department's personnel division will select another group from this year's graduating seniors to enter the program. The program's aim is to provide practical training to correspond with the academic training. It is also designed to assist high school graudates who otherwise could not continue their education.

The student-employe follows a prescribed schedule of work phases and academic phases with the work phases stressed during the junior and senior years. Specific job assignments will increase in responsibility and salary as the student gains semester hours of credit.

The program is sponsored by the state highway commission in cooperation with the University of Missouri at Columbia and Rolla.

Candidates for the program must be Missouri citizens or the son or ward of a citizen and their educational background must qualify them for admission to the University's two civil engineering departments.

High school seniors interested in the training program should contact the civil engineering department at the school they plan to attend to obtain application forms.

All applications must be received by the school not later than April 1, 1970.

To continue in the training program a student-employee must maintain a satisfactory academic and performance record at the university and a satisfactory working record with the highway department.

Charges Filed Against 3 in 'Witch' Beating

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK. (AP) —Prosecutor Mahlon G. Gibson filed maiming charges Thursday against three persons in connection with the alleged beatings of two sisters by relatives and neighbors who thought they were witches.

Sheriff Bill Long of Washington County identified the sisters as Mrs. Sheila Garmon, 28, and Cindy Perez, 16. The sisters told officers the alleged beatings began around Jan. 3.

Long said Mrs. Garmon said the beatings were by her husband, Donald; the sisters' mother, Maria Perez; a neighbor, W.A. Brown, and his wife Sarah.

Gibson said two counts of maiming were filed against Garmon and the Browns. No charge was filed against Mrs. Perez. No arrest has been made.

The Browns and Garmon are thought to be in Texas, Long said.

The Garmons, Mrs. Perez and the Browns live within 100 yards of each other in a rural area of the county about six miles northeast of Lincoln. Garmon works for Brown, a house mover.

The sisters were reported in satisfactory condition in a Fayetteville hospital today. They were being treated for cuts and bruises.

Long said he learned of the case Tuesday when Mrs. Garmon came to the county jail.

Police said Mrs. Garmon told them she and her sister had been chained to a washing machine in Brown's house.

Mrs. Garmon said she and Cindy were accused of being witches for allegedly casting a spell on her 5-year-old daughter. Mrs. Garmon said the child had suffered epileptic seizures for some time.

At the hospital, Mrs. Garmon said she got a file, cut the chain binding her to the washing machine and ran into the woods, then went to the jail.

Assessors Endorse Income Tax Plan

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri State Association of County Assessors Friday reported it has endorsed the income tax plan which goes on the ballot April 7.

The resolution endorsing the tax law was adopted by the association's executive committee.

Meanwhile, Edwin D. Bihr of Columbia, president of the Missouri State Council on Education, announced it will meet here March 3, to discuss the referendum.

The council invited all interested in discussing the income tax revision to attend the meeting.

The council is expected to be a leader in favor of ratifying the tax law and the meeting may be the kickoff for a concerted campaign in its behalf. The tax change would produce an additional $106 million in revenue in 18 months of collections and education would be one of the principal beneficiaries.

Cost Squeeze Undercuts 18-Year Farm Price Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farm prices are the highest since the Korean War, but records show producers are in a much tighter cost squeeze than they were then.

A crop reporting board said Friday prices farmers get for their products gained one per cent during the month ended Feb. 15, the fifth consecutive monthly rise and the highest level since August 1952.

Officials also reported prices farmers have to pay for goods and services hit another record high for the month, or about 5 per cent above a year earlier.

Higher prices for cattle and hogs led the January-February advance, the report said.

But even with higher market prices for many goods, farmers still averaged less profit margin than they did back in the Korean War, another period of inflation and economic concern.

Friday's report showed that when costs of production were stacked up against prices received and other factors, farmers averaged about 75 per cent of parity—the measure used to denote full purchasing power.

Even when government payments were included, the parity yardstick was only 81 per cent.

These relationships have remained fairly constant in recent years, indicating to many people the lag of farm people in obtaining a full share of the nation's affluence.

But in August 1952—the period cited by the department Friday as the previous high mark—expenses had not risen nearly as fast.

Then, according to government records, farmers were getting prices equal to 102 per cent of parity, or about 21 percentage points more than now including payments.

The recent product price increases have helped farmers, for without them the upward spiral of costs would be much more painful than they are.

Cattle and hogs, which provide the favorite meat of consumers, continued setting the pace and economists expect their pries to remain strong at least for the next few months.

A slump in hog output has caused much of the price situation. Pork production in January was down 10 per cent from a year earlier. This, along with decreases in lesser meats, more than offset a 1 per cent boost in January meat output.

The net result was that total red meat production during January was down 4 per cent from a year earlier. And until larger hog production comes into play around mid-summer, the experts see little upsurge in total meat production.

The tight supply situation thus has put upward pressure on livestock prices.

Cattle prices rose for the second straight month after declining following peaks last June. At an average of $27.20 per hundredweight—which includes all types and grades—the February cattle price was 4 per cent more than the onth before.

Hogs made one of the biggest showings and at $27.40 per hundredweight equaled the previous 60-year high set in September 1948, the department said.

The February hog price average—even considering today's higher expenses—was just a shade under 100 per cent of parity, computed at $27.50 per hundredweight.

Cattle were quoted at 84 per cent of the parity price of $32.20 per hundredweight.

Senate Okays $15.6 Billion For Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved without dissent a $15.6 billion 10-year program to modernize and expand the nation's airport system. Most of the money would come from new cargo and passenger taxes.

Responding to the 77-0 vote Thursday Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe said "this is one of aviation's finest hours and a day to be remembered by the American traveling public."

The measure now goes to a joint conference with the House for ironing out differences with a bill passed by that body last year.

The money will go into a trust fund where it will be available to states and localities on a 50-50 matching fund basis.

A minimum of $5.5 billion of the $15.6 billion is earmarked for construction with at least another $4 billion for traffic control. Sponsors of the program say they are sure all the money will be used by the time the program expires in 1980.

The first temperance society in the British colonies was probably that formed at Beaver River, Nova Scotia, in April 1828.

Not at all . . . when you consider the alternatives!
Your prescription is one of the biggest bargains in history. The average cost of the nearly billion prescriptions filled yearly in the United States is $3.56. What do you receive for that average?

1. These relatively inexpensive pharmaceuticals may save you and your family hundreds of dollars and perhaps weeks in a hospital.
2. They can help prevent a disease from developing to its most serious and painful point.
3. You are up and around sooner . . . back to work or play.
4. Less time and wages are lost.
5. And, finally, these pharmaceuticals may have prevented minor, but bothersome, physical impairments resulting from the illness.

Next time you have a prescription filled, consider the medical research and development which went into it . . . hundreds of years of progress serve you in each prescription . . . and then consider the alternatives . . . where else could you buy a better bargain?

For the highest pharmaceutical standards, low prices consistent with quality and the personal attention you can always depend upon, bring your prescriptions to

Red Cross Seeks Funds in March

March is Red Cross drive month in Scott county outside Sikeston, where money flows from the United Fund.

The Gulf Coast hurricane in August, left in its wake 145 dead and 41 missing as well as millions of dollars in property damage.

The Red Cross in the single emergency took care of 239,000 persons, and assisted 30,000 families, according to an announcement from Jimmy Phifer, chairman of the Scott county Red Cross Chapter.

There are 350 Scott county families with men in the armed services, who were given Red Cross assistance last year for illness communication, financial family assistance and counseling service.

Phifer pointed out:

"When a problem arises in a serviceman's home, we do all in our power to solve it. From Vietnam to military bases throughout America, 24 hour service is given by the Red Cross."

Defense Secretary Melvin pointed out:

"For the American serviceman, there just has to be a Red Cross. He must leave his family, go to strange places, or move his family. The military service just cannot give the service as well as our National Red Cross.'.

It takes money to for these services.

You can help by mailing your donation to Red Cross, P.O. Box 472, Sikeston, 63801. Charles Green is executive secretary, and Charles Depro, treasurer.

Skyline Changing At St. Jude Park

NEW MADRID — The skyline is changing rapidly in New Madrid's St. Jude Industrial park as construction work continues on the smelter and power plant there.

At the Noranda Aluminum Reduction Plant site, deliveries of heavy plant equipment are becoming more frequent as structural steel erection continues. Steel for the potline is about two-thirds erected. The frames for two other major buildings are essentially complete, with equipment being installed in them.

Most of the plant's major foundations are nearly complete, and work continues on remaining foundations and utilities. Two large alumina storage tanks are nearly complete. Two of the plant's materials handling conveyors are partially erected, including one nearly 2000 feet long which will transport alumina from the barge unloading dock on the river. The dock itself, and a bridge to it, are also nearing completion.

The first protype reduction cell is almost ready for checkout, in preparation for production-line installation of the remaining 173 cells, scheduled to start in April. These reduction cells, or "pots", are the heart of the aluminum production process currently expected to start in November.

Installation of permanent plant equipment continues, including several electrical transformers weighing over 100 tons each, and two large overhead cranes for the Potline.

The plant administration building is also nearing completion, with Noranda expected to take occupancy sometime in April.

Some typical quantities at the Reduction Plant include 215,000 cubic yards of excavation, nearly 700,000 tons of controlled fill for roads and foundations, over 34,000 cubic yards of structural steel erected, and nearly five miles of utility piping installed.

On the 600-million-watt electrical power plant, being built for the City of New Madrid adjacent to the smelter site, construction work is gaining momentum.

Several of the plant's warehouses and office buildings have been erected roads and railroads are complete for construction purposes, and excavation for foundations is well advanced. Pile driving for the power plant foundations is over half complete and concrete work has begun. Over 2000 concrete filled piles will be required to support the power plant and its equipment.

When completed this power plant will be one of the largest single-unit plants of its type in the nation.

At present, nearly 1300 construction workers are employed on he two sites.

The reduction plant is being designed and built by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland, Calif. The power plant is being designed by Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City, and built by Kaiser Engineers.

Pollution Board Approves Awards of $6.4 Million

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Water Pollution Board Friday night approved immediate awards of state funds totaling $6,436,816 to Missouri cities and sewer districts for water pollution control projects.

They also represent $13,935.088 in federal aid.

To qualify, the cities or districts must come up with 20 per cent of the project costs. Then the state will provide 25 per cent and the federal government 55 per cent.

In addition, the state board approved projects totaling $1,519,574 in state funds and $3,215,580 in federal funds if the local communities meet some additional requirements within the next 90 days.

Under the procedure, if the state approves a plan and awards the state funds, the federal government usually goes along and provides the additional aid.

During the hearing before the Water Pollution Board it was pointed out that Missouri was the only state in the Missouri Basin that has money available to take advantage of the federal program at present. That gives Missouri communities a head start in the battle to reduce water pollution.

The Legislature made it possibl epif'b)dmissouri to act quickly when it met in special session in January. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes notified the Legislature of the Water Pollution Board's emergency request for $5,947,000 in state funds but 9di,tno recommendation.

The two housds of the Legislature overrode the governor's noncommital position and the House and Senate Appropriations Committees to make the money available despite the precarious financial situation in Missouri.

The governor did not veto the appropriation and Friday the Water Pollution Board agreed to send a vote of thanks to the governor and the Legislature for making the emergency funds available.

Some of the projects involved have been completed and the local communities are awaiting the funds so they can embark on new campaigns against water pollution, the board was told.

One spokesman told the board that "any grant moneys reved will be plowed back in new projects." Some said the money would be used to start secondary treatment plants.

The Metropolitan Sewer District of St. Louis City and County would get a major portion, including over half the federal money available. To the district it would mean $7,179,830 in federal funds and $1,684,500 in state money. That encompasses seven projects.

In 10 projects, the city of Kansas City would get $1,964,749 in federal money and $1,343,069 in state funds. In three projects, the city of Lee's Summit would get $781,650 in federal funds and $355,250 in state money.

Other allocations with the federal money (still awaiting final approval) first and the state funds awarded second include:

Carthage $15,625 and $7,100.
Clarksville $55,110 and $43,050.
Clinton $58,733 and $26,715.
Emma $108,218 and $49,190.
Fairplay $4,547 and $2,278
Hannibal $255,000 and $115,000
Lamar $32,209 and $14,640.
Marhsall none and $539,400.
New Madrid $35,200 and 16,000
Rolla $105,985 and $48,175.

Steele Woman Wounds Self

STEELE — Mrs. Jerry (Hazel) Franklin of rural Steele is in the Methodist Hospital in Memphis in critical condition, suffering with a self- inflicted gun shot wound in the head, the Pemiscot County sheriff's office reported.

Mrs. Franklin was discovered by her teenage son Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. Investigating officers said the shooting apparently occurred during the night or early morning hours.

Mrs. Franklin is the wife of Jerry Franklin, former manager of the Idle Hour Bar in Hayti. The bar was cited in recent liquor investigation raids for improper licensing.

If You Were the Judge

Namesake Bounty Indefinite, Invalid

Horace, who suffered from an ego problem, executed a will in which he directed his executor to pay $100 to any of "my relatives" that named their children after "me." As a result, local hospitals became a bedlam of confusion when Horace finally died. More Horace's were being born than there were warts on a pickle and they were being born to close and distant relatives of the departed Horace. Their parents all claimed the $100 bounty. As it turned out, however, Horace's executor didn't suffer from Horace's ego problem and he refused to pay off.

"The provision in the will for the $100 payment," argued the executor, "isn't legal. Horace's relatives, and there's no limit to them, could go on indefinitely naming their off-springs after him. By the 25th century only Flash Gordon wouldn't be named Horace. The whole thing is ridiculous!"

Undismayed, however, the parents took their $100 claims to court to collect.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you order the executor to pass out the sawbucks?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that provisions in a will cannot be enforced if they are indefinite. And, in this case, noted the judge, the term "my relatives" was too imprecise. (Based upon a 1965 New York Surrogate's Court Decision)

Demand for Teachers Is Leveling Off

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The placement service at Southeast Missouri State College had 36,337 elementary and secondary school teaching vacancies reported to it Sept. 1, 1968- Aug. 31, 1969, a report released by the placement office shows.

This represents only a three per cent increase over the previous year, considerably short of the 40 per cent increase in reported teaching vacancies which the placement service had averaged in each of the preceding five years.

"This may indicate that the demand for teachers is leveling off somewhat," Miss Bertie Cleino, director of the placement service, comments in the report.

Elementary school vacancies accounted for 12,646 of the openings reported to the college service. English with 2,390 vacancies reported led in the number of employment opportunities in junior and senior high school subject were mathematics (2051), music (1413), industrial arts (1271), history and social studies (1146), and special education (1055).

By contrast, Southeast Missouri State had 87 first- time candidates for teaching positions in history and social studies, 61 in English and journalism, and 42 in men's physical education.

Southeast Missouri State's placement service is open to alumni and present students who have completed 15 hours of coursework and are seeking a full- time job. Most of those who utilize the service are seniors who expect to graduate within a semester or two.

During the period covered in the report, 1,135 job candidates, 238 of them alumni, registered with the service, an increase of 20 per cent over the preceding year.

Besides elementary and secondary school teaching positions, 1,249 vacancies were reported in various colleges, an increase of 41 per cent, and the placement service was notified of 802 business and government openings, an increase of 24 per cent. Seventy- three business enterprises interviewed on the campus, as did 49 school systems. Most of the teachers placed took jobs in Missouri.

The median salary for all teaching candidates placed during the year was $6,346. For beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree, the median was $6,241, an increase of $366 over the preceding year.

The highest salary reported to the placement office was $10,500, which went to a person taking a management position. The lowest was $3,600 for a clerk- typist position.

The average salary in all business fields was $7,564,$1,140 more than the average for beginning teachers. The figure includes, however, the salaries of some experienced persons taking new jobs.

Dr. Arthur Magill, Cape Scientist, Dies

CAPE GIRARDEAU, (AP) - Dr. Arthur C. Magill, for whom Southeast Missouri State College named its hall of science in 1952, died Saturday night at age 88. He had been in failing health.

The career of the Richmond, Mo., native at the school was distinguished by his unrelenting drive early in the century toward eradicting the dread disease typhoid.

Magill's two brothers had died and two of his sisters were left deformed by the disease when he was principal at Bonne Terre in Southeast Missouri.

He joined the chemistry department at Southeast Missouri State and volunteered to test all water samples sent to the school at no cost.

Magill later estimated he tested 35,000 samples of water, about 50 per cent of which contained typhoid germs. "There was nithing altruistic about it," he said. "I just didn't like the idea of other people suffering the same grief I had.'.

Magill, who served 43 years on the faculty, was head of the science department the last 28. He received the W. Scott Johnson Award for distinguished service from the Missouri Public Health Association and was named to the Missouri Academy of Squires in 1957.

Following retirement in 1952, Magill successfully ran three for seats in the Missouri House of Representatives and was later elected a Cape Girardeau County Associate Judge two times. He served as a district governor of Rotary International. He was a democrat.

He married Ethel Miller in Bonne Terre, June 11, 1908. She survives.

Other survivors are three sons, Roy Magille, Kirkwood, Jim Magill, Ferguson, and William Magill, Geneva, Switzerland; five daughters, Mrs. Howard Anderson, Columbia, Mrs. W. P. Hunter Sr., Sikeston, Mrs. B. B. Winn, Los Altos, Calif., Mrs. William Kaempfer, Aledo, Ill., Mrs. W. R. Nichols, Winter Park, Fla., three sisters, Miss Mayme Magill, Mrs. Orville Couch, and Mrs. Edward Irons, all of Richmond; 25 grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren.

The body is at Wather Funer Home.

Services will be in Centenary United Methodist church Tuesday at 3 p.m. with the Rev. J. Ray Trotter, and Dr. R. C. Holliday, retired, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery near Cape Girardeau.

Patrol Zone Office To Leave Pemiscot

CARUTHERSVILLE — Troop E Headquarters of the Missouri State Highway Patrol in Poplar Bluff, has announced that the Zone Office in Hayti will move to New Madrid County and possibily locate in Portageville. Hayti residents and merchants plan to meet with officers of Troop E to discuss the issue.

Lt. W. C. Brooks of Poplar Bluff told The Pemissot Journal Monday morning that the Zone Office was going to move out of the sounty but a Highway Patrol office would still be maintained in Hayti. Asked when the zone office would be moved, Lt. Brooks stated that it would be vacated as soon as they could get other quarters. The Zone Office is where local Troopers do their paper work, give breathlizer test etc.

Asked why the office was going to be moved out of Pemissot County, Lt. Brooks said, "We feel like there is going to be more traffic and things in the Noranda Plant area in Marston."

There has always been some kind of Zone Office in Pemiscot County since 1946, according to the Trooper. The office was located in a trooper's home at first but was later moved to the Municipal Building in Hayti.

"Actually it is not this important," said the Highway Patrolman.

Hayti Chief of Police Fred "Fritz" McKay stated Monday that he had already received about 15 phone calls from interested Hayti residents Monday morning. "I hate to see them leave," said McKay, "and I feel that a Zone Office is needed in Pemiscot County as well as New Madrid County." "We've had six people killed near Hayti since Friday morning," the Hayti Police Chief continued.

McKay stated that interested Hayti residents were going to meet with him and officers of the State Patrol in Hayti sometime this week.

"I am almost sure that there isn't anything we can do about their decision," said the Hayti Chief."

Paul A. Volcker, undersecretary for monetary affairs, said Wednesday increased purchases of the smaller Treasury bills is costing the government too much money and is drawing investment away from savings and loan associations, the main source of home mortgage financing.

He said small investors still will be able to purchase $1,000 Treasury notes and bonds.
